Youth Critically Burned In Explosion

As California Fights Floods

Shown above is a typical scene in flood-stricken California. A traffic policeman is flagging down traffic on the Livermore highway as rivers went out of their banks and pushed onto the road. The flood was expected to reach its crest in the stricken areas today.

5 Die as California Flood Crumples Levee

Family Trapped In Auto As They Flee Onrushing Waters; Flood Expected To Reach Greatest Force Today.

BULLETIN

MERIDIAN, Cal.—(AP)—Four of the five persons who were thought to have drowned in a flood early today, were found safe in a tree surrounded by swirling water.

(By Associated Press)

MERIDAN, Cal.—Five members of one family, including two small children, were believed drowned early today by the north California floods. Their automobile was caught in the path of onrushing waters and turned over like a cardboard box. One person escaped.

The accident occurred two and a half miles east of Meridan while the family was fleeing the onrushing waters which poured through a broken levee on the Sacramento river, running rampant and spreading destruction throughout the rich Sacramento valley.

The lone survivor was F. Flearty. The missing were Flearty's wife, his daughter, son-in-law and the latter's two children. Flearty was rescued by another motorist.

Meanwhile the five-day flood threatened the city of Colusa, where 100 families were evacuated as water poured over broken and weakened levees.

The brunt of the floor force was expected to reach the city of 2,100 persons early today.

While authorities struggled to combat the flood along a 150-mile front, looting of victims' homes was reported from Redding, near the northern tip of the stricken area.

A posse was organized at Red-

CRASH KILLS 4

Former Vanderbilt Students Die Returning From Dance.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Four persons were killed and a fifth injured critically last night when an automobile in which they were riding from a dance at Vanderbilt university overturned near here.

The dead were identified by patrolmen as:

Miss Orline Lannahan, 25, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Miss Margaret Murray, 22, of Nashville.

D. E. Hinkle, 23, of Old Hickory, Tenn., son of Rev. E. D. Hinkle, Methodist church district superintendent at Fayetteville, Tenn.

Clyde Sharp, 25, lumberman, of Rutherford, Tenn.

Injured critically was J. B. Sherill, 24, of Cornelius, N. C.

All the men were former students of Vanderbilt and had been attending a fraternity dance.

RESIGNS $4,000 POST

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Fred J. Milligan, administrative assistant in charge of handling state liquor store and agency leases, resigned his $4,000 a year job today because the work has been completed for 1940. He will resume a law practice here.

DONAHEY STILL HOLDS SILENCE

Promises Formal Statement On Future Plans Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Donahey (D., O.) kept his friends and family guessing today on whether he would seek re-nomination.

The senator, hurrying to a committee meeting, declined to discuss reports that he would end his 40-year political career upon expiration of his term next January.

His office staff is wagering both ways. Vic Donahey, jr., is betting his father will retire. The senator's secretary, Mrs. Lela Leeth, said she would win a quarter if he decided to stay in politics.

The answer will be given by Donahey tomorrow in a formal statement

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — The Crosley corporation announced today it would inaugurate limited television broadcasts from Cincinnati on Sept 1

The company is taking advantage of a federal communications commission ruling which will permit commercial television programs. Equipment has been installed in a downtown building. Non-commercial programs may be broadcast prior to Sept. 1.

MYSTERIOUS BLAST SETS HOUSE AFIRE

Police Believe Gas Leak May Have Been Responsible; Heard for Blocks.

2 BEDROOMS DESTROYED

David Nelson, 19, Given Slight Chance to Recover; Went Upstairs to Retire.

A 19-year-old youth suffering from severe body burns sustained last night in a mysterious explosion which rocked a north side residence battled for his life in General hospital today.

The victim is David Nelson, son of Mrs. M. W. Triplett, 26 Prescott street. Mrs. Triplett was treated for burns about the hands, received when she ran to the boy's rescue.

Hospital attendants, who described young Nelson's condition as "critical," gave him only a slight chance to recover. They said he suffered second degree burns about the face neck, arms and hands.

The blast, which occurred in an upstairs bedroom shortly after 10 p. m. was heard for blocks. Fire which broke out immediately swept through the upper portion of the residence and destroyed two bedrooms.

Companies Nos. 1 and 2 under the direction of Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger were recalled to the residence an hour after the first blaze had been extinguished when the fire broke out in the attic.

Taken To Hospital By Police.

Patrolmen John Gilbert and William Colby who answered the alarm said they took young Nelson to the hospital in a cruiser.

Unable to question the boy concerning the blast, the officers said they were told by Mrs. Triplett that he had gone upstairs to retire.

A few minutes later the house was shaken by a terrific explosion which blew out all the windows in the second floor.

Police said there was no open gas jets in the room but advanced the theory that there might have been a leak in a pipe that was capped in the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Triplett, who were on the first floor when the explosion occurred, told officers the boy might have lighted a match

LEFT TO DIE

Child Hit by Auto, Then Left in Garage, Police Say.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Police charged today that 5-year-old Beverly Joan Frank, her body crushed by a hit-and-run driver, was carted to a cold garage while still living by the driver and left alone under a tarpaulin to die.

They charged that Walter H. Bradshaw, 44, a butcher shop owner, admitted he hid the girl and calmly left it to return to his meat shop because he was worried about whether his 18-year-old son "could handle the afternoon rush."

The girl was struck down in front of her home. Police said Bradshaw picked up her body, carried it away in his car and hid it beneath an old overcoat and a tarpaulin on the floor of his garage.

Leigh, Donat Win Movie 'Oscars'

'Wind' Sweeps Up All But Eight of Movieland's Coveted Honors.

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — Gay and irresponsible Hollywood was shaking itself loose today from the big blow and the British blockade, because two stars from the merry old isle, green-eyed Vivien Leigh and soft-spoken Robert Donat, had established a firm contraband control on acting honors, while most everything else in filmland had "gone with the wind."

Miss Leigh entered the hall of cinema immortals by capturing the motion picture academy's annual award for the best performance by an actress in 1939, while Donat carried away a companion golden statuette for the outstanding male role of the year

Miss Leigh scored as the Scarlet O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," and Donat earned his tribute as the venerable schoolmaster in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips."

All in all, it was the night of the big wind in the Ambassador hotel's Cocoanut Grove, where 800 excited white-tied men and diamond-and-ermined women, the cream of filmdom's talent and beauty crop, had gathered to learn who among them had gathered the current honors.

Takes 8 'Oscars.'

The picture based on Miss Margaret Mitchell's book ran away with eight of the sixteen major awards, for some unknown reason called "Oscars," the cleanest sweep in movie history, to wit, besides Miss Leigh, the best production of 1939, best director, Victor Fleming; best supporting actress, Hattie McDaniel; best screen play, Sidney Hoard; best color photography, Ernest Haller and Ray Rennard; best film editing, Hal C. Kern and James E. Newcom, and the best art direction, Lyel Wheeler. The epic was produced by David O. Selznick at the Selznick-International studio and released through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It was a personal triumph for Selznick.

Vivien Leigh's acting as Scarlet O'Hara in the movie "Gone With The Wind" won for her today the Motion Picture Academy's annual award for the best performance by an actress in 1939. Robert Donat earned a similar tribute for his role as the venerable schoolmaster in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips."

AUTO TAG SALE IN SLOW START

Only 150 Apply for Licenses as Auto Club Begins to Issue 15,000 Plates for 1940.

The sale of 1940 auto tags got off to a slow start this morning at the Richland County Auto club. Only 150 sets were sold up until the noon hour, club officials said.

About 15,000 of the new plates went on sale here this morning as distribution of the 1940 tags opened throughout the state. Motorists however will not be allowed to use them until March 10. The 1939 plates are void after March 31.

In addition to the auto plates, truck and trailer license also went on sale here, this being the only office in Richland county where these tags may be purchased.

Yesterday was the final day to file requests with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus for the special letter and number combinations of tags. These tags can only be purchased through the Columbus office.

BUYS ZANESVILLE WEEKLY

ZANESVILLE—(AP)—The Zanesville News, an evening daily newspaper, has purchased the Zanesville Herald, a weekly founded four years ago. Announcement of the sale was made in the Herald's last issue, published yesterday.

NAMED IN SUIT

West, New Treasury Official, Defendant In $662 Action.

Charles West, former 17th district congressman, recently named to a $7,500 a year job in the treasury department by President Roosevelt, was named defendant in a suit filed in Muskingum county common pleas court today, dispatches from Zanesville said.

The action, filed by J. W. Fink, of White Cottage, seeks to require West as president of the Rose Glow Coal company to pay his $662, allegedly due for trucking services.

HELD FOR JURY

Youth Captured in Gas Station Enters Plea of Guilty.

Robert Dudte, 18, of 85 West Sixth street, one of the two youths captured Wednesday night while burglarizing a gasoline filling station, was held in county jail today awaiting grand jury action on a charge of breaking and entering.

His companion, a 17-year-old youth, is expected to be taken before Judge C. J. Anderson in juvenile court on a similiar charge.

Dudte pleaded guilty today and was bound over under a $2,000 bond.

Capt. John Miller and Patrolman John Gilbert captured the pair in a filling station at East Fourth street and Ashland road. They said the youths had broken a window to enter the building and were in the act of breaking open a pinball machine when they were apprehended

DRIVER, 66, FINED

James Sowash, 66, of Bucyrus, lost his driving rights for one year and was fined $50 and costs in municipal court today when convicted on a charge of operating his automobile while under the influence of alcohol

Sowash was arrested Feb. 7 on West Second street in front of the city building. Six witnesses including a visiting nurse and the two arresting patrolmen, testified that Sowash appeared intoxicated when he drove his car away from the curb.

M'GREGOR GETS CERTIFICATION

New Congressman Resigns Post in Legislature, Leaves for Capital Sunday.

J. Harry McGregor of West Lafayette and Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton of Cleveland, Republican winners in the 17th and 22nd congressional districts, respectively, in Tuesday's special elections, today were certified as elected by Secretary of State Earl Griffith. Gov. John W. Bricker witnessed the certifications.

Mrs. Bolton's certification was issued despite a taxpayer's suit pending in Cuyahoga county common pleas court which contends that Tuesday's special election was illegal because it was called without giving independent candidates a chance to file.

Griffith said the courts had no jurisdiction because congress alone could determine whether Mrs. Bolton has a right to hold office. She is the widow of Con-

BRICKER FREES SHERIFF SLAYER

Grants Pardon To Life Termer In Prison Since 1924.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Gov. John W. Bricker today pardoned Elmer Farra, 42, of Byesville, Guernsey county, serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary for slaying Sheriff Charles Moore of Noble county.

George Siebenseuh of Byesville also was convicted in the shooting which resulted from bootlegging operations, but former Gov. George White commuted his life sentence to end on Dec 22, 1934.

BOY KILLS SELF

"Tired of Mush," He Strangles Self In Bedroom.

KANSAS CITY, Kas —(AP)— Screaming "I'm tired of living on corn meal mush" 11-year-old Harry Larsen ran into his bedroom and slammed the door. A short time later he was found strangled to death.

March Comes In Like a Lamb, So Keep That Coal Bin Filled

There was no mistaking the bleat of the March lamb today, despite cloudy skies and a forecast of rain or snow tonight.

Which is a bit disturbing when considering the old adage that if March comes in like a lamb it certainly will go out like a lion, because the people of this section have had about as much non-like weather as they can stand in one winter

And there still remain two weeks of the winter weather which Mr. Groundhog promised us on Feb. 2 when he came out of winter quarters, saw his shadow and retired for six more weeks of "hard weather."

Adding up all the signs we are in for two weeks of winter weather, with the March lion roaring on the way out.

While the temperature dropped to 29 during the night, it had come up again today and at noon was 41 on the official thermometer

One of the unusual phases of the winter which didn't get under way in earnest until the last of December is that at no time have the streets and yards been completely free of ice and snow, while some of the residential streets still have the ice that formed more than a month ago

Nazis Declare They'll Crush 'Stranglehold'

Von Ribbontrop Reported To Have Told U. S. Envoy Germany Won't Discuss Peace Until British Dominance Ends; Hitler Appointment Set.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Germany is not prepared even to discuss peace until and unless Britain's "stranglehold on the economic life of the world" is broken—this in effect is understood to have been the central thesis of the first talk today between President Roosevelt's fact-finding emissary and Adolf Hitler's foreign minister.

Moreover, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop is understood to have told Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles that until Britain's dominance is ended Germany is unready to entertain Secretary Hull's ideas concerning elimination of autarchy, regimentation and totalitarianism from the post-war economic world.

Sources in Von Ribbentrop's confidence developed this idea so strongly to this correspondent that there can be little doubt that Ribbentrop himself gave this line of talk to Welles, with whom he was closeted soon after the American's arrival this morning.

The talk began at noon and lasted until 2:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m, EST).

Welles, arriving from Rome, where he already had conferred with Premier Mussolini on his fact-finding mission for President Roosevelt, was greeted in the German capital this morning with the shrieks of air raid sirens which were unintentionally martial—it was a regular alarm rehearsal.

It was understood that the main purpose of Welles' talk with Von Ribbentrop was to prepare the ground for the American's meeting with Fuehrer Hitler probably tomorrow.

In developing the thesis that Britain has a stranglehold on the world Von Ribbentrop was believed to have told Welles that British censorship of American clipper mail at Bermuda was a mere pinprick for the United States compared to what all Europe as well as Asia feels all the time.

Nazis Rendering 'Service.'

So long as England holds Gibraltar and the Suez canal, for example—so Von Ribbentrop is supposed to have argued—there is no security for the rest of the world. According to the German view England uses economic strangulation as one of her chief weapons for holding the rest of the world in submission, and therefore Germany is rendering a service to civilization in challenging Britain's right to such a practice.

Germany, in the foreign office view which undoubtedly was communicated to Welles, would rather fight to the bitter

HELSINKI: Finland Battles Desperately To Retain Viipuri

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—Finnish defenders struggled today to hold Viipuri, bomb-blackened and deserted Gulf of Finland port, from Soviet Russian forces closing in almost at its gates.

A reinforced Red army stepped up the pace of its onslaughts in an attempt to strike the knock-out blow of its month-long drive against Finland's key city on the Karelian isthmus. Some sources said the Russians had sent fully 19 fresh divisions, nearly 300,000 men, into the isthmus fighting.

The Finns fell back to stronger positions, mined Viipuri bay and massed artillery in an effort to stave off encirclement by preventing the Russians from crossing the ice from north of the Koivisto fortified area to the west and rear of Viipuri.

(A Red army communique today said the Russians were only a little more than a mile from Viipuri and were closing in from the south and east in a "developing" offensive.)

(In its advance, the communique said, the Russian army captured 270 more Finnish fortifications—including 66 iron and concrete forts—and occupied Pero, Heinjoki and Ayrapaa, all on the Viipuri-Valkjarvi railroad. Heinjoki is about 14 miles east of Viipuri and Ayrapaa about 12 miles further east.)

While the Finns struggled to stem the Russian tide on the western side of the Karelian isthmus, they coped with flames and casualties from air raids which struck many cities.

Fleets of Russian bombing planes, which raided some cities in waves and appeared to have left almost no area unscathed, blazed a trail of death and flames over a wide area. The attacks yesterday included three alarms, but no bombs, in Helsinki.

Many civilians died and many others were injured. At least 10 were killed at Savonlinna,

LONDON: German Planes Raid British Ships, Report Some Sunk

(By United Press)

LONDON—German planes attacked shipping from the Yorkshire coast to the Thames estuary today in an apparent reprisal for new British Royal Air Force flights over German cities and naval bases.

During the raids, an SOS call was intercepted from a steamer off the east coast. The trawler Acuba and the drifter Silver put out to sea to aid it.

(In Berlin the official news agency announced that German planes in widespread attacks on British shipping had bombed warships, ships in convoys and armed merchant steamers. Some ships were sunk and others were set afire, the agency said, and at least one convoy was broken up.)

The attacks began at dawn off the Yorkshire coast when German planes machine gunned and bombed several trawlers and a fishing fleet.

Along the coast, the most shattering anti-aircraft fire of the war was heard. Batteries boomed from the Essex area to the Thames estuary. Guns along the Thames estuary were firing at a plane, believed to be German, flying at a great height.

Royal air force planes flew out to engage the bombers while they attacked the fishing fleets off Yorkshire.

The skipper of one fishing boat—the Courageous—that was attacked said that the German plane "passed within 50 feet of our port side and fired a burst of machine-gun bullets

"The plane then climbed and dropped a bomb that fell close. Our boat seemed to be lifted from the water but suffered no serious damage.

"The plane turned away and we made for port."

Roosevelt, Due Home Tomorrow, Faces 3 Major Issues

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS BY JUNE SEEN

Date for Sending Lawmakers Home, 3rd Term and Welles' Report Top Questions.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Returning from his vacation cruise tomorrow in time to observe the New Deal's seventh anniversary, President Roosevelt will find three questions paramount in the capital:

1. Politics: Will the chief executive run for a third term, and when will he make known his decision?

2. Foreign affairs: What will Undersecretary of State Welles report on his visits to the European belligerents?

3. Congress: Will the president make any new legislative recommendations, or will he urge the lawmakers to quit early?

Only in regard to the third question is there general agreement on the president's expected answer. It will surprise everyone in Washington if he proposes any important new laws at this time. Rather, he probably will favor adjournment of congress between May 15 and June 1.

That would give congressmen time for a brief rest—or an ear-to-the-ground survey at home—before the national conventions pick the presidential nominees.

And you can find many a politician who will argue that the Democratic convention will be in session July 15 before Mr. Roosevelt discloses his third term views. Some even predict that he will be renominated—and then will decline to run.

On the other hand, an important segment of political Washington contends that he will make an announcement soon — perhaps on Monday, the anniversary of his first inauguration in 1933. He will attend special church services in the morning and will dine with the cabinet, but otherwise he has given no indication of his plans for the day.

See 'Silent' Stand.

Still other politicians believe that the president will keep silent until after the Illinois and Wisconsin primaries early in April. His name has been entered by supporters, in opposition to Vice President Garner.

By the time Mr. Roosevelt's special train arrives from Pensacola, Fla., a confidential message may be on his desk describing Undersecretary Welles' meeting today with Adolf Hitler. It was made clear before Welles sailed for Europe that the results of his soundings would not be made public, but they will be available to guide the president and Secretary Hull in framing America's foreign policies and in furthering any peace discussions.

James Roosevelt's Wife Expected To Get Divorce Today

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — With no opposition expected, Mrs. James Roosevelt was to appear in Los Angeles superior court today and ask for a divorce from the eldest son of the president.

Her husband, from whom she separated more than a year ago after eight years of marriage, was not expected to appear in court, although he filed the original complaint last month. He will be represented by counsel.

Mrs. Roosevelt sought her marital freedom on a cross-complaint in which she charged desertion and cruelty.

Roosevelt, in his complaint, charged desertion, alleging that the former Betsey Cushing of Boston refused to live with him in Hollywood where he has become a film producer.

Already agreed upon by the couple, a property settlement under terms of which Mrs. Roosevelt is to receive funds for support of their two children, Sara Delano, 7, and Kate, 4, will be presented to the court for approval.

PRINCE DIES

Aage of Denmark Served In Foreign Legion 34 Years.

CASABLANCA, Morocco—(AP)—Prince Aage of Denmark, kin to many of the royal families of Europe and a veteran of 34 years in the French Foreign Legion, died at the age of 52 today at Taza after a short illness.

Son of Prince Valdemar of Denmark and Princess Marie of Orleans, he was a cousin of King Christian of Denmark, King George of England, former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, the late Czar Nicholas of Russia and King George of Greece.

RFC to Report $45,000,000 Loss for Year

Up and Down THE STREET

The second quadrennial birthday party for Leap Year babies was held yesterday in the basement of St. Mary's Catholic church in Shelby. Mrs. Joseph Yohn of Shelby got the idea when her son, Dickey, was born eight years ago. She collected newspaper clippings in the county, Feb. 29, 1932, and the next leap year, in 1936, invited them for their first birthday anniversary. Yesterday was the second one and it was attended by about 100 children. The guests of honor now eight years old, were Dickey Yohn and Margaret Garvin of Shelby, and Howard Davis and Duane Mellick of Mansfield. Unable to attend the festivities in their honor were Mary Alice Brown of Tiro, and Eugene Gwirtz of Shelby.

Highway state patrolmen tell a neat little story on themselves which happened during the last big snow the first of the week. While patroling Park avenue road west of the city they saw a car go through a highway stop sign and took after it. The driver stepped on the gas and led the patrolmen a merry chase over country roads clogged with snow. After several miles the cruiser ran into a drift and got stuck while the offender sped on. But just to show that he wasn't a bad egg, even if a careless driver, the driver turned around, came back and helped the patrolmen dig their way out of the drift. No, he wasn't arrested.

A story in yesterday's paper was "mis-read" by dozens of Mansfielders and as a result the Auto club was deluged with persons wanting special license numbers and letters. The story said that about 500 applications a day had been received at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles for special combinations of letters and numerals. Some autoists thought it said the applications could be made here and besieged the auto club. Applications for these tags are ONLY received at the Columbus bureau and have to be received by March 1.

Richland county girls failed to take advantage of Feb. 29, the significant day in leap year, if the county marriage license figures prove anything. Only one couple applied for a license yesterday and one license was issued. The pair who asked for a license must wait the full five days before it will be issued. Marriages in the county so far this year have shown no increase over the first two months of 1939.

REOPEN SCHOOL

Shiloh Pupils Resume Classes Monday After Fever Scare.

SHILOH — With the Shiloh school scheduled to open again Monday after being closed one week due to nine cases of scarlet fever in this community, pastors of the Shiloh Methodist and Lutheran churches today announced that regular services would be held Sunday.

The school was closed last Monday as a "precautionary measure," following action taken by the Cass township board of education, when nine cases of the fever were reported among the pupils.

Similar action was taken early this year when one of the pupils was taken ill with diphtheria.

BEGIN PERSONAL TAX COLLECTION

Period for Payment of $200,000 Extends Through This Month.

The county today began its collection of more than $200,000 in personal taxes due for the first half of the year. Taxes will be received until April 1 without penalty.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, whose department handles the personal levy collection, said additional clerks will be on the job at the courthouse during the month the books are open to aid property owners in filling out their returns.

Wolfe urged taxpayers to fill out their returns early and avoid a rush during the last few days of the collection period. Taxes may be paid for the first half or the full year.

Personal taxes are collected on stocks and bonds, household equipment, industrial machinery, office furnishings, livestock, farm equipment and other purely personal belongings. The auditor estimated that 5,500 county property owners must pay the tax.

SUCCUMBS IN WILLARD AT 81

Mrs. Amy McKenzie Will Be Buried in Greenlawn Cemetery.

DENTAL CLINIC MAPS NEW DRIVE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR PROGRAM

With four benefit bridge parties scheduled for March 27 and 28, the Mansfield Dental Clinic association next week will begin its drive to dispose of 1,000 tickets, receipts of which will go towards financing dental work for underprivileged school children.

Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms last night, the association's board of directors selected a 13-member committee to head the drive for funds.

The bridge parties will be held at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. in the American Legion auditorium on Park avenue west on the two days.

Heading the committee in charge of the arrangements is Mrs. Robert D. Evans, vice president of the association who was named general chairman.

Other committee members are Mrs. Ralph Schad, place; Mrs. Andrew Mott, table and chairs; Mrs. George Ingram, tickets; Mrs. B. W. Knapp, refreshments; Mrs. James Bailey, candy; Miss Phylis Brown, score pads and tallies; Mrs. Virginia Snyder, cards; Mrs. Thornton Moore, prizes; Miss Dorothy Landers, door prizes; Mrs. Raymond Straub, raffle baskets; Mrs. J. C. Stout, ushers and hospitality.

Miss Florence Robinson, art instructor in the public schools, was selected to head a poster committee which plans to have school children design advertising posters.

A meeting of the association will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the chamber's assembly rooms at which time tickets will be distributed to the participating clubs, Mrs. J. Ward Ingraham, president of the association said.

RITES SET FOR INFANT

GALION—Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Volk funeral home for Robert LaVern Anliker, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Anliker of four miles east of here. The child, a twin, was born at Mansfield General hospital last Monday and died Wednesday. Besides its parents, the twin sister survives.

HIT BY RABIES

Troy Dogs Under Quarantine to Curb Canine Attacks.

TROY—(U.P.)—All dogs in Troy were placed under quarantine today by Dr. K. C. Becker, health commissioner, after the third dog fatality in the city from rabies in recent weeks.

Under the order, all dogs are to be tied up and stray dogs found on the streets will be destroyed. Owners who fail to obey the order are liable to $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

Six dogs in Miami county have died of rabies recently, and authorities feared that humans might be attacked by mad dogs. Previously, local quarantines had been ordered but these proved ineffective.

The village of Ludlow Falls, west of here, was again placed under quarantine following a new outbreak.

2,000 LOANS IN DEFAULT, CHECK BY U. S. SHOWS

Loans to Closed Banks Cause Biggest Losses, Jones Says as Agency Goes in 'Red.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — More than 2000 loans made by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, representing $448,000,000 in principal and interest, are in default, an official treasury report revealed today.

Final figures show that the RFC will reflect a $45,000,000 net loss on its operations during the 1939 fiscal year. This is the first year that the agency has operated in the "red" since it was established in 1932.

Nevertheless, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones said that the RFC expects most of the loans now in default eventually to be repaid in full.

The treasury report disclosed that the RFC expects to lose $58,00,000 on the defaulted loans. The probable value of these loans is estimated at $390,000,000.

The losses sustained on the loans, however, will be absorbed by the corporation's profitable operations in prior years. Up to last June, the RFC rolled up a surplus of nearly $170,000,000.

The RFC's biggest losses will result from loans to closed banks. Statistics show that $103,000,000 is in default on bank loans. Of this amount, the corporation does not expect to get back more than $78,000,000.

More than $195,000,000 of railroad indebtedness is in default. Jones said this resulted from receiverships and that the corporation eventually will obtain all but $3,000,000 of the money.

A sizeable loss will result from 100 defaulted loans to mortgage companies. Approximately $51,000,000 is owned by these groups but only $41,000,000 is expected to be repaid.

ORGANIZE HERE

Sportsmen, Farmers Set Up Conservation Committee.

A Richland county conservation committee to co-operate in effecting a state-wide wildlife program was organized last night at a meeting of sportsmen and farmers at North Lake park pavilion.

Joseph Heilman, Mansfield sportsman, was chosen chairman of the committee, Howard Hyatt of Pavonia is vice chairman and N. H. Heston of Lucas is secretary.

Arthur A. Mellick of Ganges was named a representative of farmers on the committee and A. A. Miller, Mansfield, was chosen as the sportsmen's representative.

The session was in charge of C. L. Blakeman, district conservation officer, who said the committee will "give sportsmen and farmers alike a voice in forming a state wildlife conservation program."

County Agent George B. Ganyard spoke on "The Relationship Between Sportsman and Farmer."

RITES SUNDAY NEAR GALION

Burial Of Mrs. Luella Hershner To Be In Fairview Cemetery.

GALION — Mrs. Eva Luella Hershner, 67, died at her home four miles northwest of here last night after a five-day illness. She had lived in her late home for 39 years, coming here from Shelby.

Surviving are her husband; two brothers, H. A. Morton, Garretsville, and Charles of Shelby; and a daughter, Mrs. J. B. Erreit of Marion. She was a member of the Windfall Reformed church and of the North Robinson Grange.

The body will remain at the home where services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, and at 2 p. m. at the Windfall church, Rev. R. R. Elliker of the First Reformed church of Galion will officiate and burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Surviving besides her daughter are a son, Boyd of Shiloh, a sister, Mrs. Margaret Kirkwood of Olivesburg, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the McQuate funeral home in Shiloh with Rev. Fred W. Shirey, pastor of the Shiloh Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Adario cemetery.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Tales From Times Square.

Word has reached Lindy's from the Southland that while Eddie Duchin is not exactly a fugitive from a chain gang, he did find himself in a peck of trouble the other evening down Georgia way. The band had played at a Georgia Tech dance, and when the prom was over the musicians found that their transportation arrangements had gone awry, and no taxis arrived to take them back to town. All the guests had left while the boys were packing up their instruments, so there was nothing to do but try and hitch a ride.

Their thumbing efforts were highly unsuccessful—until a police car stopped.

"I'm Eddy Duchin," the bandleader modestly began, "could you give us a ride into town?"

"I'm John Philip Sousa," scoffed the cop, "hop in."

On the way the officer informed Eddy he would be booked for vagrancy, and when they got to police headquarters the maestro was surprised to learn that, sure enough, he and the boys were going to be locked up for the night.

Eddy paced, argued, and persuaded. Finally he got to a piano in the recreation room and started to prove his identity by his keyboard technique. That was at 3:30 a. m.

He played for two hours, with the policemen and the musicians joining in a community sing. At 6 a. m., the whole band was set free.

"I still don't know who you are," the acting chief told Duchin, "but you play a great piano, so we won't hold you. Just get out of town."

Mr. Duchin, who is probably the world's highest-salaried "vagrant," got.

* * *

Coincidence.

The other evening a tall young man got up from his table at Armando's and crooned with the orchestra in an impromptu, but competent manner. Armando, surprised at the casual customer's excellent voice, walked over to congratulate him and advise him to take up singing as a career. "Does anybody else in your family sing?" asked Armando.

"Why, yes," replied the young man. "My father—Lawrence Tibbett!"

John, the waiter who guards the corner table at the Tavern, couldn't help overhearing a very famous actress sinking verbal hooks into her acquaintances a few nights ago as he served her her after-theater sherry. For about an hour she shredded the reputations of her dozen most intimate friends. Then she decided she was hungry and ordered a chicken sandwich and milk.

"Would you," said John innocently, "like the milk in a saucer?"

Reputation.

Barry Wood, the Hit Parade singer, is a great follower of the Warner Brothers gangster films. The other day on Broadway a friend nudged him and pointed out:

"There goes Jimmy Cagney."

"Oh, yeah," recognized Barry. "Must be out on parole."

* * *

Technique.

Leonard Goldstein, the former cowboy film producer just back from the coast, was telling a group of midnighters what a hard time he had getting to talk on the telephone with a Hollywood producer whose interest in what Damon Runyon calls the gee-gees is well known to one and all. For days after Goldstein arrived in the cinema town, he kept trying to reach the mogul, but always a secretary's voice would say, "I'm sorry, Mr. So-and-So can't talk to you right now."

Finally one afternoon Goldstein went out to the track, and after the third race he telephoned the producer again. "I'm sorry," said the secretary, "Mr. So-and-So can't talk just now."

"All right," said Goldstein, "just tell him Blue Streak in the third."

The next day Goldstein got a phone call from the no longer elusive producer.

"My gosh," said the executive, "I'm sorry I didn't talk to you when you called. From now on you can get me anytime."

"Oh, that's all right," said Goldstein, "you're busy. I just wanted to give you a horse."

"Yes," replied the anguished producer, "but how did I know it was important?"

Review.

Two playwrights were discussing a third drama-fashioner at the Algonquin Supper club last night.

"I hear he just finished a new manuscript," said the first. "How is it?"

"So bad," chuckled the other, "that it ran for only two carbon copies!"

* * *

Blizzard.

James Cannon, the writer, paid his check at Sardi's, took his hat and coat from Renee, the checkroom girl, and remarked: "Now I am going home to change into my white flannels."

"Why?" asked Renee.

"Because," replied Jimmy, stepping out into the raging snowstorm, "this is Florida weather!"

FAIR ENOUGH

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Representative Vito Marcantonio of New York has called J. Edgar Hoover a Stork club detective, which is pretty good going, just as repartee, and if Mr. Hoover will now crack back that Marcantonio is a Communist congressman, the boys will be even.

For Mr. Hoover is, in a manner of speaking a night club fly cop, and, in the same manner of speaking, Marcantonio is a Bolo statesman. Hoover hangs out in the glamour jukes, and the representative camps around with the Musconites, and if Marcantonio wants to judge Mr. Hoover by the company that he keeps, he shouldn't mind being judged by the same rule himself.

He will mind, however. For him to call Mr. Hoover a Stork club detective is statesmanship, but it undoubtedly will be red-baiting to call Marcantonio a communist on the same grounds.

Mr. Hoover's worst fault is not his hangout. His worst fault is that he is sensational. For a file of trashy personal publicity he has permitted the prestige of his bureau to be exploited commercially by a personal following of self-elected junior G-men and himself to be identified in the public mind with gents'-room journalism.

A few years ago, when he was strictly a cop and before he had tasted celebrity, he was regarded as the greatest policeman since Pinkerton, but he soiled his prestige in the Lindbergh trial by allowing or, anyway, failing to prevent the creation of an impression that he was trying his case in the papers through the lowest form of journalism that has ever disgraced the craft.

* * *

He hasn't turned up anything big in a long time, and it may be that he has outlived his usefulness in his present job and is on the threshold of a new career. He would be a great attraction as a keyhole columnist and log roller.

Mr. Hoover's latest exploit is the arrest of a number of vermin, male and female, in the Miami sector on Mann act charges, and this has been challenged on the ground that prostitution is a friendly or, to say the worst, necessary vice. It is my contention, however, that this is just about Mr. Hoover's speed, and that, since congress, in its wisdom, made a law forbidding interstate traffic in prostitutes, the FBI has no right to interpret public opinion as having repealed the law. It is not Mr. Hoover's right to ignore evidence of interstate prostitution.

* * *

The fact is that the two Miamis have become the winter headquarters of the most prosperous and, therefore, most vicious criminals out of prison, and Mr. Hoover is wise in establishing his camp there in the biggest season of all.

Mr. Hoover is not only harassing the criminal scum but seriously interfering with the vicious corruption of the local government when he lets it be known that he is spending his vacation there and that a number of his fly cops will be on duty around the clock as long as the season lasts.

And if, as a result of his winter's work, the gamblers are starved for a season and the thieves in office are made afraid to do business with crime, that is good police work, which is Mr. Hoover's job, and a net profit to the country which pays his wages.

If Mr. Hoover is forgetting that he is a glamour cop and getting down to police duty, let's let him alone.

BOOKS REFLECT WAR INTEREST, PROPAGANDA

Non-Fiction Additions Include Story About Democracy's Fight for Survival.

Reflecting the world's interest in war, propaganda and the struggle of democracy for survival, are the new non-fiction books added to the Public library this week. There is an unusually long list of non-fiction this week, as interest in world events, mounts.

SEA POWER AND TODAY'S WAR by Fletcher Pratt is a technical study of the strength of the sea powers, and an analysis of their tactics and strategy in time of war. Written during the summer of 1939, the author's views took the form of an assumption of policies in a future war.

The outbreak of war in September, following the Russo-German pact brought about an earlier fulfillment of these predictions. With England and Germany engaged in a struggle to destroy each other's navies, this most timely book supplies an explanation of their methods.

THE FINE ART OF PROPAGANDA edited by Alfred McClung Lee and Elizabeth Briant Lee is a publication of the Institute for Propaganda Analysis which contains a study of Father Coughlin's speeches. Because the Institute believes that the "art of democracy is the art of thinking and discussing independently and together," it seeks to throw light on the devices propagandists use in their efforts to persuade us. Father Coughlin's radio talks have been chosen according to the authors because they represent a fairly typical borrowing of foreign anti-democratic propaganda methods by an American propagandist.

IT IS LATER THAN YOU THINK by Max Lerner, until recently editor of The Nation, is an evaluation of the possibilities of democracy's survival in today's crisis. He asserts that we need a democratic collectivism — a militant and disciplined democracy.

Other Non-Fiction:

PARKING PROBLEM IN CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICTS, by Nolting and Opperman;

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF BACTERIOLOGY by Salle;

ENGINEERING OPPORTUNITIES, by Clyne.

POSTER PROGRESS

FUNDAMENTALS OF THE PETROLEUM INDUSTRY, Hager;

MANUAL OF PORCELAIN ENAMELING, Hansen;

HOOF-BEATEN TRAILS, Doud;

OHIO BUILDS A NATION, Stille;

PARK, PARKWAY, AND RECREATIONAL AREA STUDY.

AN OLD CAPTIVITY by Nevil Shute is a story of adventure. An archeological expedition from England to Greenland, by air, involves a scientist, Cyril Lockwood, an aviator, Donald Ross, and a spoiled debutante, Lockwood's daughter, in a series of strange and exciting happenings.

Books For Children

• • •

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

The magic of California from the time of the gold rush of '49 has often been written into books. Two more California stories from the children's room collection will be displayed this week.

HO FOR CALIFORNY! by Johnson and Peck—The first party of gold seekers from Nantucket, R I., was made of the five versatile boys and men important in this book. Their long journey by sailboat to Panama and the difficult trip across to the Pacific coast furnish regular thrills. Then the search for gold in California continues their difficulties. The whole story reminds one of THE NUGGETS OF SINGING CREEK, a book added to the collection a year ago.

GOLDEN GATE, by Valenti Angelo — More quietly but in no less an interesting manner this book tells of Nino and his trip from Italy to California beginning March 1, 1907. He made friends at school and learned English and liked to draw, just as many boys from Italy do. The story is full of sunshine and good humor.

SUES FOR STATE COMPENSATION

Wife Brings Action Against State In Behalf of Injured Hubband.

A suit seeking industrial compensation for Clarence Kerr, Mansfield, former employe of the Bissman company, had been filed today in common pleas court against the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

The petition, filed by his wife, Iza Kerr, states that the Industrial commission turned down Clarence Kerr's claim for compensation although Kerr suffered injuries Jan 12, 1938 while in the employ of the Bissman company that led to partial paralysis.

In turning down his claim, the Industrial commission said Kerr's disabilty was not the result of injuries he received while at work.

THEATERS

JACKIE COOGAN, former child star and more recently touring in the stage comedy, "What a Life," has decided, since the failure of his play on the road, to give up the theater as a livelihood and take acting on screen or stage only when he can get it. In the meantime he has bought a flying school at Clover Field, Cal., and with two other boys as partners, will operate it himself. He is still primarily interested in the screen and hopes that sometime he'll make another successful picture.

• • •

Gable-Crawford Teamed.

Remember the theme of the old stage play "Passing of the Third Floor Back?" It was of a gentle stranger who made better the lives of all with whom he came in contact. Something of this theme is woven into "Strange Cargo," which brings Clark Gable and Joan Crawford to the Ohio theater Saturday. Ian Hunter plays the same sort of role, that of a mild and gentle unknown who regenerates a cargo of men who escape from a penal colony. The picture was made from the moving novel, "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep" by Richard Sale. Others in the cast are Peter Lorre, Paul Lukas, Albert Dekker, J. Edward Bromberg, Eduardo Cianelli, John Arledge and Victor Varconi

• • •

Romantic Team.

Another romantic team to make its appearance on Saturday is Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck who will be seen in "Remember the Night." It is a chuckling-sort of comedy in which an assistant in the district attorney's office finds himself saddled with a pretty jewel thief, whose bond he has provided. He takes her home with him for the hohdays and their friendly adventure ends in love. It will be a double feature bill, starting tomorrow, with "The Marines Fly High" as the second attraction. It stars Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Lucille Ball.

• • •

Made In Phoenix.

John King, who has played supporting roles in western films for several years, is now a star in his own right and is seen in "The Gentleman From Arizona" which is at the Park today and tomorrow. The picture was made in and around Phoenix, Ariz., and the musical group was recruited from the exclusive Biltmore hotel at the southern winter resort. "El Rancho Grande" is a song hit in the film. As a second feature, the Park has "Heroes In Blue."

• • •

New Western Serial.

A new serial will be introduced at the Ritz today when "Oregon Trail" is shown. Johnny Mack Brown, Fuzzy Knight, Louise Stanley and Bill Cody, jr., will have the major roles in this western serial. Brown is seen as a frontier scout, sent out by the government to curb Indian outrages and outlawry. A Three-Mesquiteers episode, "Heroes of the Saddle" and Charlie Chan in "City In Darkness" make up the Ritz bill for the two days.

• • •

Singing Buckaroo.

Fred Scott, the "silvery voiced buckaroo" of the screen, is featured in "In Old Montana" at the Majestic. The theme is the war between the cattlemen and the sheep herders of Montana in 1880. Scott, an army lieutenant, goes back to Montana to aid his father in the fight and goes disguised as a performer in a medicine show. The major attraction at the Majestic is "Having a Wonderful Time" with Ginger Rogers and Douglas Fairbanks, starred.

Sandusky Play Opens Tonight

PLAY in the district Class A basketball tourney will get under way at Sandusky tonight with the defending champion Mansfield club on the sidelines.

The Tygers will not get into action until Saturday when they face the host Blue Streaks at 6 p. m.

Games tonight will pit Bellevue against Tiffin Columbians at 7 o'clock, Norwalk against Tiffin Junior Order and Fremont Ross against Willard.

Fremont is rated as the tournament favorite, with Mansfield and Bellevue other popular choices.

Rens Too Tough For Collegians

Pro Champions Take Chuck's Team Into Camp, 49 to 41, Before Big Crowd.

THEY'RE still champions as far as Mansfield is concerned. The New York Renaissance courtmen whipped the famous Chuck Chuckovits' Toledo Collegians, 49 to 41, before a crowd of more than 1,000 at Mansfield high school last night in their second appearance in the city this season.

The Rens outplayed the Toledoans throughout, but the difference in the score was never so much that the Collegians could not make it up.

* * *

Fans who witnessed the game were not disappointed in the performance of Chuckovits, either. He put on a spectacular one-man show as he tallied 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

* * *

The former Toledo university star's total included eight field goals and six free throws.

Another feature of the pro game was the play of "Tarzan" Cooper, tall Renaissance forward. He again proved that he is one of the best pivot men and ball handlers in the business.

The world's champions jumped into a 4 to 8 lead in the first period, held a 34 to 25 advantage at the intermission and a 42 to 32 lead going into the final quarter.

The Toledoans threatened to overtake the Rens on a couple of occasions, but the colored stars merely quickened their pace each time when it looked as though trouble was brewing.

Perhaps the biggest kick the fans got out of the game was the pass work of the Rens.

"Pop" Gates and Bill Bell led the scoring for the New York quintet with 14 points apiece. Curran was next to Chuckovit's in the Toledo scoring column with 10 points.

* * *

The Garber Printers of Ashland defeated the Westinghouse Electrics, 33 to 29, in the preliminary game.

* * *

The Mansfield team held a 12 to 8 lead at the end of the first period and a 17 to 15 edge at the half, but it was unable to hold off an Ashland rally in the next period, obtaining a 27 to 22 edge before the start of the final frame.

Archbold led the Ashland club with 12 points and John Schuster was high for the Westies with eight.

Predict Big Year for Red

Sidelines Experts Say Moore Is Due.

TAMPA, Fla. —(UP)— The training camp grind is only five days old but already the sideline experts are predicting a big year for Lloyd (Whitey) Moore, the gift of the Tuscarawas county (O.) to the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff.

Loudest of the drum beaters for the erstwhile Redgel "bad boy" who got into trouble with the law and the Cincinnati front office last fall, is none other than Manager Bill McKechnie.

* * *

"Don't be surprised if Moore develops into one of our most consistent winners this season," smiled the deacon as he noted Whitey's changed attitude for the better under the warm Florida sun.

* * *

"He seems determined to make good this year. Life was too much a bowl of cherries for Whitey during the last two seasons. Sometimes he looked like a world beater. But too often he made the fatal mistake of throwing what we call the 'fat pitch' in the tight spots.

"But now I believe he realizes that he must produce this year or travel. If I were a betting man, I bet on the production end."

McKechnie spent several minutes with Moore yesterday trying to develop a new "down" pitch for the speed-ball hurler.

The regular Red infielders and outfielders are scheduled to join the batterymen and rookies today.

Fremont, Canton Tank Favorites

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Another close scrap for the state high school swimming title is booked in Ohio State University's pool Saturday afternoon, with Fremont Ross and Canton McKinley co-favorites.

A year ago the Fremont and Canton squads battled through the eight-event program to finish even with 39½ points, with third-place Sandusky getting 18. On the basis of this year's district results, the 1940 meet looks as close as the 1939 classic.

The state scholastic wrestling meet, in which Cleveland schools copped the four top berths a year ago, will be held Saturday in the G. S. U. gymnasium. Approximately 120 entrants are on the card.

Champions Fall In District Tournament Play

By JIM EMERSON

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Two defending Class B district champions and three strong Class A fives were upset as sectional playoffs continued today in the state high school basketball eliminations.

Harpster in the northwestern district at Union City, in the only contest to date between fallen class B state tourney entrants from last year.

* * *

Ada nosed out Harpster, 42 to 40, in an overtime struggle at Carey while Union City bowed to Springboro, 31 to 26, at the Dayton sectional. These two additional eliminations left only eight of last year's 16 class B state meet competitors still in the running for a return visit this month.

* * *

The Class A fourth sectionals eliminated Xenia from East Steubenville and East Liverpool from further tourney participation. Girard upended East 39 to 29 to advance to the quarter-finals at Kent next week-end. Cuyahoga Memorial and Youngstown South, Shadyside put the finger on East Liverpool, 38 to 33, while Tiltonville took care of Steubenville, 43 to 34.

Except for these upsets last night's results ran fairly true to form.

Akron North, defending state class A champion, made an impressive debut with a 42 to 18 victory over Akron Jennings. North Canton, the class B titlest, began sectional play by trouncing Copley, 43 to 28. It was North Canton's 43rd game without defeat.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon and Sandusky St. Mary's, runnersup to Akron North and North Canton, respectively, at Columbus last March, bowed in triumphantly yesterday. Roger Bacon defeated Cincinnati Hartwell, 31 to 28, while Sandusky St. Mary's trounced Clyde, 34 to 21, in the sectional meet at Fremont.

Middletown, with only one setback in 18 games during the regular season, got by Dayton Chaminade 27 to 22, in its initial tourney test. The Middies clash with Troy's Fourways, a decading district champion, in the feature tilt at Dayton tomorrow.

Cincinnati Woodward, one of three undefeated Class A quints in the state, walloped Cincinnati Electrical, 37 to 11, but it remained for Cincinnati Hughes to run up the most lop-sided score to date, defeating Cincinnati Mechanical 40 to 2.

* * *

Bryan which entered the state meet for the first time last season took a hard-fought duel from Bowling Green, 29 to 26, at Defiance last night. By drawing a second round bye, Bryan now goes into the semi-finals next Friday against either Napoleon or Paulding.

Mount Vernon, the heavy central district favorite, romped over Circleville, 57 to 35, in its first start.

Four more meets start firing tonight, putting every section into action except Toledo. The newcomers tonight will be class A tourneys at Sandusky and Athens and class B at Waverly and Logan.

Whitcomb High With 630 Total

O. P. S. Star Rolls Scores of 237, 184, and 206 in Commercial League.

A NEAT 630 total by Whitcomb was the high individual score at the Meder alleys last night.

Bowling with the Ohio Public Service team in the Commercial B league, the kegler opened with a 237, added a 184 and finished with a 206 to compile his total. His club, however, dropped a pair of games to the Kochheiser Sports.

* * *

The Possum Run Golfers walked off with team scoring honors as they won three games from the Mohican Chevrolets. Led by Renner, who had a 573, the golfers collected 2753 pins.

* * *

The Mansfield Rugs hit a 2743 total in taking two games from the Yuncker Sports, led by Funston's 603.

Satterlee's Restaurant stayed at the top of the league ladder by taking three decisions from the Shelby Cycle team. Satterlee's club holds a game lead over the Ringside Cafe which won a pair of games from the Mansfield Printers. The Ringside keglers rolled a 2701 total.

Katherine Cheney led the scoring in the Women's City league with a 537 total, which included a 200. She paced the Long Bar to three wins over the Morgan Dry Cleaners, led by Florence Handwork's 514.

Sophia Meder, with a 203 and 519, and Lillian Marks, 501, paced Carek's Florists to two wins over the Moderne Beauty Salon. The losers were led by Heiser's 522.

Comiskey Family To Keep White Sox

CHICAGO— (INS) —Continuation of the Chicago White Sox as the property of the Comiskey family, with which the American league baseball club has been linked since the turn of the century, was assured today.

Giving short shrift to a petition by the First National bank of Chicago for permission to sell the club to the highest bidder, Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday ruled that the bank, as executor of the estate of the late J. Louis Comiskey, must continue to administrate the affairs of the Sox so long as the Comiskey family wishes. The bank had contended the business of baseball was too hazardous and uncertain to form the basis of a safe trust.

M'NEILL REACHES FINALS IN INDOOR TENNIS MEET

NEW YORK —(INS)— Bobby Riggs, U. S. national champion, today was favored to sweep through Frank Froehling of Chicago in the men's semi-final of the indoor tennis championship and go on to meet Don McNeill in the final.

McNeill advanced into the finals yesterday when he defeated Frank Bowden of New York, 6-4, 6-5, 6-4.

Bellville Hurdles First Tourney Foe

But County Champs Face Big Job Against Ada In Carey Saturday.

By CHARLES MARTIN

WHAT appears to be the toughest assignment of the season looms in front of the Bellville high Bluejays today.

It'll be the job of eliminating Ada in a second round contest in the sectional Class B tournament at Carey at 9:30 p. m. Saturday.

Mentor W. H. Miley's hoopsters successfully emerged from its first round tussle last night by rallying to topple a stubborn McComb five, 37 to 29, before 1,000 fans at Carey high. But after the Bellville high coach watched Ada edge Harpster, 42 to 40, in an overtime, it looks like trouble for the fighting Bluejays.

Richland county's other entry in the sectional meet, Lexington, gets its first taste of competition at 7:30 p. m. Saturday when it tackles Fostoria St. Wendelin in the evening's opening tilt.

* * *

Bellville had a case of jitters for three periods last night, but Capt. Bill Martin took command of the situation at that point and the club was on its way.

* * *

Trailing by three points as play opened in the fourth chapter, Martin personally slipped in five fielders to enable his team to take a lead it held to the finish.

Once Martin began hitting the combine came to life and completely outplayed its rivals.

It was an uphill battle for Bellville most of the way. Only once, midway in the first period, did the Bluejays hold the advantage until it staged the rally.

The Bluejays worked the ball in for easy shots during the opening half only to have the ball fall off the lip of the rim.

Bellville waited until two minutes after the opening of the final stanza before Martin pumped one in from the side of the court to give his team a 26 to 25 lead.

McComb, Hancock county champions, tried desperately to break up the Bluejays' stalling game during the last three minutes but that cost the losers four foul shots and only added to Bellville's advantage.

With Scheele, star forward, pacing the attack, McComb spurted ahead, 6 to 5, in the initial quarter, was leading, 11 to 19, at the intermission and held a 21 to 18 lead at the end of the third chapter.

The fast-charging Bellville guards did a fine job of rushing the McComb passing attack in the fourth, and the losers frequently threw the ball away.

Bellville was leading, 29 to 27, midway in the last frame, and Martin put new life in his teammates by popping in a pair of goals in quick order. McComb added a goal shortly afterwards but it was the nearest it came to overtaking the winners.

* * *

Martin and Scheele tied for scoring honors with 16 points apiece. Martin collected seven fielders and a pair of free throws while Scheele compiled his total on six goals and four fouls.

* * *

Howard "Tick" Hamilton and Don Palm each added 10 points to the Bellville attack. The trio were the only Bluejays to score baskets.

Ada, displaying a fast-breaking attack, had its hands full in beating Harpster. The pre-tourney favorite, Ada seemed to falter at times, but came through with a side shot in the last minute of the overtime to win.

Tiffin Calvert marked up its fourth win of the season by handing Thompson a 27 to 22 defeat in the opening game on the program last night.

MICKEY COCHRANE MAY ENTER POLITICAL FIELD

DETROIT—(INS)—Mickey Cochrane, who piloted the Detroit Tigers to a world championship in 1935 and resigned in 1938, may try a new field, he said today—politics.

While he was emphasizing that he had not yet made up his mind, he did admit it "was likely" he would become a Republican candidate for sheriff in the fall elections. The post pays a salary of $8,000 a year.

JIMMY DEMARET WINS ST. PETERSBURG TOURNEY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. —(INS)—Mr. Jimmy (Unbeatable) Demaret of Houston, Texas, today wrapped up his fifth victory in eight winter golf tournaments after beating National Open Champion Byron Nelson by one stroke in the $3,000 54-hole St. Petersburg open.

Bringing his money winning for the year to better than $6,000, Demaret completed the tourney with an aggregate of 211 and collected $700 first money. Nelson won $450 for second place.

TONY KAYOES ENZIO

Pytlak Refuses To Take Cut

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (U P) — Frankie Pytlak, star Cleveland Indians' catcher, stated today that he definitely would not sign for a salary less than he received last year. He reportedly has been requested to accept a 35 per cent pay cut.

"The Indians gave me an increase of 15 per cent for the last season and now they want me to give it all back—and then some," he said. "This business of giving back to the Indians is not going to take place. It wasn't my fault I was forced out by injuries so much last year. Those are the breaks." Pytlak reportedly was reduced from $14,500 to $10,500.

Purdue Places Two on Team

Beretta, Blankengave Gain Berths on U-P Team.

CHICAGO—(U P)—Two members of Purdue's Big Ten basketball champions landed places today on the annual all-conference honor team selected by the United Press.

* * *

The Boilermakers — Senior Fred Beretta and Sophomore Don Blanken—gave Purdue a break in numbers but head man in the voting was Captain Bill Hapac of Illinois, who set a new conference record of 34 points for a single game.

* * *

For the first time in years, two sophomores drew enough votes for a first team rating. In addition to Blanken, husky Dick Klein of Northwestern, who has trailed Hapac all season in the individual scoring race, was elected. Gene Englund, Wisconsin rangy junior center, rounded out the first drive.

Buddy Knox Headed Up Ladder Again

Placed eighth in national rankings a year ago and subsequently tumbled by losing to Nathan Mann and Harry Cooper, Knox got started on his "comeback-at-23" campaign last night by handily outpointing Jorge Brescia, of South America.

Brescia, who went three rounds with Champion Joe Louis in 1936, had won six straight fights on his second American tour. Knox's infighting and bolo punches were too much for him and the Argentine managed to win only one round, the last. Two rounds were even and the Dayton Irishman pounded out decisive margins in the others. Brescia was groggy and bleeding badly in the fourth, Knox's best stanza.

INDIANS TO HOLD FIRST INFIELD DRILL TODAY

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(INS)—With training sessions lasting little over an hour each day, Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians said today that the team will get its first infield practice tomorrow.

Two new members trying out for infield posts are Russ Peters, who was with Atlanta last season, and Stanley Rogers who was with New Orleans.

A NEW LEADER is setting on top of the heap in the Senior Class A basketball league today.

The newcomer is the Isaly Dairy five which last night handed the erstwhile pace setter, Raemelton Farm a 35 to 32 whupping at the Friendly House.

* * *

Two other quintets, the Moose Lodge and Rex Billiards, hopped into a three-way tie with Raemelton for second place by chalking up victories. The Lodgemen walloped the Daley Cafe, 31 to 21, and the Cuemen, 1939 champions, stopped the Augustine Canfields, 43 to 29.

* * *

The Dairy combine held an early lead against the Farmers, only to see the latter knott the score at 26-all as play was resumed in the final frame.

At this point the Dairymen dropped in nine points while limiting the first half champions to six. Isaly led, 23 to 14, at the half.

Roberts was high-point man for the game with 13 tallies. Matt Hager led the Farmers with nine markers.

The Rex Billiards didn't have much trouble in scoring its second win. Taking a 6-4 advantage in the first quarter, the Cuemen led, 20 to 11, at the half, and 29 to 15, at the end of the third. Bernett paced the winners with 12 points.

* * *

Daley's outfit gave the Moose club a battle for three periods, but wilted under the Lodgemen's last-period scoring spree.

* * *

The Moose team was ahead, 6-4, in the first, 11-10, at the half, and 16-15, as the clubs went into the fourth. Horning collected 10 points for the winners.

Garcia Puts Share Of Title on Block

LOS ANGELES—(AP)— Seeking to advance still another rung up pugilism's ladder of fame, Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong climbs into the ring tonight and faces Ceferino Garcia, claimant of the world's middleweight crown and one of the deadliest punchers in the business.

The fighters are clashing for the second time—the first time before their home town admirers. The bout is slated for 10 rounds with Garcia's New York-California recognized 160-pound title at stake.

Wooster Scots Defeat Oberlin to Clinch Conference, State-Wide Honors.

WOOSTER—(AP)—They're going to have to pass a law to stop this Wooster basketball team.

The powerful Scots again reign supreme in Ohio collegiate circles today as a result of a 40 to 24 victory at Oberlin. The decision clinched the Ohio conference and state-wide championships.

* * *

The triumph gave Coach Mose Hole's lads a league record of 18 victories without defeat and a state-wide mark of 16 and 2.

* * *

Muskingum, riding second place in the conference with 11 and 1, can't overtake the Scots even though its last game is with the champions.

Ohio university, runner-up in the all-inclusive standings with 18 and 4, likewise cannot catch up, even though the Bobcats have two games to go.

Dick Gernert led the titlists last night with 10 points. The Scots were on top at the half, 20 to 14.

Statistics show how completely the Scots have dominated league play. They have won 38 consecutive conference games in the last three seasons; have taken their last 33 league games at home; and have captured undisputed titles in 1921-22, 1929-30 and 1938-39.

Coach Hole, now in his 14th season here, has piloted the Scots to 172 victories, while losing only 67. His teams have scored 10,364 points to 8,089 for their foes.

* * *

Gilbert (Pudge) Hole, crack forward, has scored 195 points so far this season. Gernert is second with 180. The team plays the Muskies in the finale Saturday night.

* * *

Woosters opponents already are worrying about next season. Only two players will graduate—Co-Captains Johnny Mack and Cliff Smith, three-year regulars.

REDS TO PLAY 14 GAMES IN SOUTH WITH RED SOX

CINCINNATI —(INS)— The Cincinnati Reds, National league champions, will play 14 spring exhibition games with the Boston Red Sox and six with the Detroit Tigers, Redleg General Manager Warren C. Giles announced today.

The world champion New York Yankees will provide the opposition in two encounters; Brooklyn will be met twice; the Cardinals, twice; the New York Giants, three times, and the Philadelphia Phils, once. One of the highlights of the schedule will be a three-day trip to Havana, where the Reds will play a picked Cuban team.

PAM—Traitor! By A. W. Brewerton

SWIFTLY PAM'S FINGERS FLY OVER THE KEYS!
" DEAR MR. WHITE-SIDE: REPLYING FURTHER TO YOUR LETTER IN REFERENCE TO THE LEGACY, AS STATED IN THE WILL OF MISS LUCILE JACKSON, LEFT ME WITH THE STIPULATION THAT I ---- 3-1
--NEVER MARRY REGRET TO INFORM YOU THAT I CAN-NOT CONFORM TO SAID REQUIREMENT AND HEREWITH REFUSE TO ACCEPT THE BEQUEST ON ITS ABOVE CON-DITIONS, AND WISH THAT THE MONEY BE GIVEN TO CHARITY AS SPECIFIED!"
GOOD! THE DECISION OF ANY RED-BLOODED AMERICAN GIRL, PAM!
THERE! - I'VE DONE IT! - AND I FEEL JUST LIKE A TRAITOR TO MY DARLING, PRECIOUS MOTHER!
AND JUST THEN THE DOOR OPENED AND -
SPECIAL DELIVERY FOR MISS PAMELA POTTER, PLEASE!
NOW WHO CAN THAT BE FROM? AND HAS IT ANYTHING TO DO WITH THE WILL?

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Hot and Cold. By Harold Gray

ANNIE'S JUST A CHILD, AFTER ALL- SHE HAS A VIVID IMAGINATION - OF COURSE WE CAN'T BELIEVE HER COCK AND BULL STORY, AND YET,-- WAIT, JOHN- IT WAS NO COCK AND BULL STORY- THEY WERE AFTER HER, ALL RIGHT-
3-1-40
BUT-- BUT, NICK! WHY WOULD ANY GANG TRY DELIBERATELY TO MURDER A CHILD LIKE ANNIE?
SIMPLE- BECAUSE SHE KNOWS TOO MUCH- SHE KNOWS THIS AXEL AND HE PREFERS TO REMAIN UNKNOWN- ALIVE SHE WILL TALK-
YEAH? MAYBE! BUT WE'LL SOON KNOW! I'LL HAVE THE COPS ROUND UP THIS BIRD AND IF HE'S REALLY AXEL WE'LL TRIM THIS AXEL DOWN TO A HUB CAP-
THE COPS? HA! IF HE REALLY IS AXEL, IT WOULD BE LIKE SETTING SPANIELS TO CATCH A PYTHON-
IN ANY EVENT, I'LL HANDLE THIS. NICK- ANNIE'LL STAY HOME WHERE SHE'S SAFE- SHE'LL NOT HANG AROUND WITH A GANGSTER-
O. K- BUT HERE IS WHERE THEY WILL LOOK FIRST- AND WHEN THEY ARRIVE PERHAPS A "GANGSTER" WOULD COME IN HANDY-

BLONDIE—Look Out for Your Bridgework, Dagwood! By Chic Young

THE NEBBS—Plotting Afoot. By Sol Hess

IF RUDY KNEW OF THE SINISTER PLOT BEING HATCHED IN THE CITY, HE WOULD REALLY BE WORRIED- IF HE HAS THE CAPACITY FOR ANY MORE.
3-1
YOU'VE PERHAPS HEARD ABOUT THE 'AROUND THE WORLD POWER-PILL FLIGHT.' WELL, THERE'S $5000 APIECE FOR YOU IF THE TRIP IS A COMPLETE FAILURE - I OFFERED TO BUY THAT FORMULA FOR MORE MONEY THAN THOSE GUYS SHOULD HAVE, WITH THEIR BRAINS... THEY'RE DUMB AND WE GOT TO PROVE IT TO THEM
THAT'S A BIG ORDER THE BOSS HANDED US
WELL, THAT'S WHY HE GAVE IT TO US - HE KNOWS WE CAN HANDLE BIG JOBS
WELL, WHAT'S YOUR PLAN?
WELL GO DOWN TO NORTHVILLE AND LOOK THE GROUND OVER - WELL GET A PLAN - FOR $5000 BUCKS I'LL MAKE IT FANCY AND PUT A FRINGE ON IT

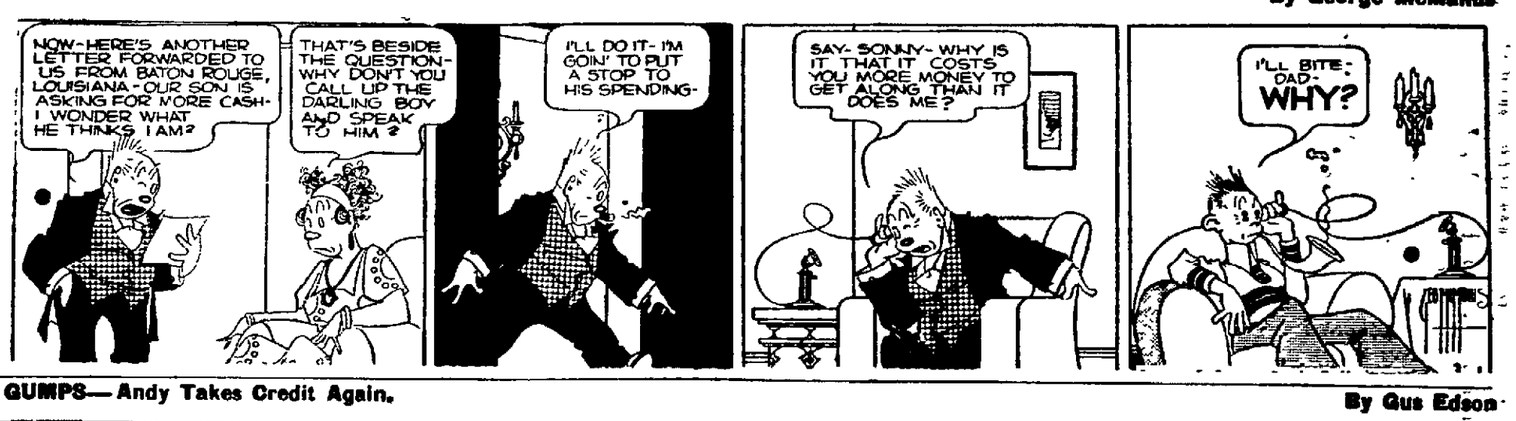
BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus



NOW-HERE'S ANOTHER LETTER FORWARDED TO US FROM BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA - OUR SON IS ASKING FOR MORE CASH- I WONDER WHAT HE THINKS I AM?
THAT'S BESIDE THE QUESTION- WHY DON'T YOU CALL UP THE DARLING BOY AND SPEAK TO HIM?
I'LL DO IT- I'M GOIN' TO PUT A STOP TO HIS SPENDING-SAY- SONNY- WHY IS IT THAT IT COSTS YOU MORE MONEY TO GET ALONG THAN IT DOES ME?
I'LL BITE- DAD- WHY?

THE GUMPS—Andy Takes Credit Again. By Gus Edson

OH, MIN! I'VE GOT BIG NEWS ABOUT BABY!
3-1
BABY REALLY IS A COUNTESS! SHE JUST TOLD BIM AND ME!
WHAT? FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE! ARE YOU SURE?
JUST IMAGINE! A REAL COUNTESS! I-I'M FLABBER-GASTED!
HEH-HEH! JUST ANOTHER FEATHER IN THE CAP OF US GUMPS, EH, TOOTS?
WHAT DO YOU MEAN? BABY'S MY RELATIVE— NOT YOURS!

DICK TRACY—Faith Hope and a Notebook —By CHESTER GOULD

HE SAID TO GET THE BLACK BOUND NOTE BOOK IN THE TOP DESK DRAWER.
HERE IT IS, PAT! THIS IS IT! LOOK.
NOTE-BOOKS WON'T HELP NOW. IT'S TOO LATE TO HELP THE BABY.
GOSH, THIS MERELY DESCRIBES THE EFFECTS AFTER THE SERUM HAS BEEN ADMINISTERED.
WAIT! THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT TRACY WANTED TO SEE!
IT CAN'T DIE.... IT CAN'T DIE! HE WON'T LET IT DIE— HE KNOWS IT'S JUST A LITTLE BABY. HE WON'T LET IT DIE.

STOCK PRICES RESUME CLIMB IN SLOW MART

Rising Tide of New Finances Viewed With Satisfaction in Financial District.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—With the leavening of a few buoyant issues, the stock market rose slightly today.

Fractional increases overbalanced declines, but trading was hesitant. Bonds and commoditics were irregular. Foreign markets were uneven.

The rising tide of new financing was viewed with satisfaction in the financial district. The February total was $391,261,279 compared with $148,315,250 in January and $253,173,271 in February, 1939.

One of the most sensitive business barometers in the country—the cotton textile industry—reported the greatest demand for cotton grey goods in the last two months. Mills sold about 6,000,000 yards of print cloths and related items yesterday, mainly for prompt shipment.

During past weeks of doldrums in the stock exchange, many Wall Street analysts have delved more deeply than usual into the activities of the commodity markets.

The recent run-up in wheat, for instance, has been considered an indication of likely European food demands. Of interest was a warning by farm administration officials in Washington that domestic wheat prices now are as much as 25 cents a bushel higher than the Canadian, Argentine and Australian quotations.

Increases in hides, cotton and rubber likewise have given strength to the general commodities line-up.

FIVE DROWNED AS LEVY BREAKS

Family Trapped in Auto as They Flee Onrushing Tide in Sacramento Valley.

American Legionnaires were deputized for emergency duty in Colusa by Sheriff George R. Houx, and men fought to close a break in the Sacramenta river levee, a mile west of the city

Estimate 5,000 Homeless.

Four deaths by drowning were attributed to the flood. Two persons were missing, and authorities estimated the homeless at more than 5,000. There were no comprehensive official estimates of damage to property and crops.

Conditions in the area north of Colusa improved with clear weather and the flood waters drained off to move toward new danger points cownriver.

The river at Colusa, some 50 miles above Sacramento, the state capital, stood at 29.2 feet at 12:30 a. m. equaling a mark set in 1907. Men worked feverishly piling dirt bags to stop leaks in the levee. It was expected the river would reach 29.8 or 30 feet by 6 a. m. flood stage is 29 feet.

The levee at Meridian, 10 miles below Colusa, gave way shortly after midnight and began flooding a valley 16 miles long and five miles wide.

Thirteen breaks in the Sacramento levees in the Butte City-Glenn-Princeton areas north of Colusa were reported yesterday by Floyd Nolta, Willows aviator who flew over the region.

A body of flood waters 15 miles wide stood opposite Colusa and extended for 15 miles north and south of the city. Most of the area covered was ranch lands.

State and federal authorities mobilized facilities to start reconstruction in the draining areas and minimize damage in newly stricken regions.

WPA officials in Washington granted an additional $60,000 in emergency funds for flood relief projects, making a total of $90,000 released since Tuesday.

Fair, mild weather was forecast for northern California today.

House 'Relief Bloc' Seeks $150,000,000 More for WPA

N. Y. SOLON SAYS 'RACKETS' STILL EXIST

Raber Says Harrington Has Failed in Promises to 'Clean Up' Relief.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Charges that the Works Progress administration has failed to "end the rackets in relief" were made today by Rep. John Taber (R) New York, as a "relief bloc" was formed in the house to force bigger appropriations.

The relief question will be thrust into the open next week when the "relief bloc" goes to the White House to ask President Roosevelt to recommend an emergency fund of $150,000,000 to avert spring layoffs on WPA.

Taber, ranking Republican on the appropriations committee and a member of the WPA investigating committee, declared that Col. Francis Harrington, WPA administrator, has failed to carry out promises to "clean up" relief.

"They are using relief funds to pay 500 clerks in the procurement division of the treasury at regular government salaries instead of using the money for relief," said Taber. "Not only that, but the record shows that the procurement division is costing the government more money that before it was formed to cut down expenses.

"They are still paying excessive non-relief wages on the New York airport and on the new Washington airport.

"I know of a case where a city administration protested that they were putting people on relief who were using the money to buy real estate.

"It is a racket and still shot through with politics."

The relief bloc, however, maintained that 800,000 people will be laid off from April 1 to June 30 unless congress provides a deficiency appropriation. More will be cut from the rolls after July 1 under President Roosevelt's economy budget.

Marcantonio said a group of congressmen will call on Mr. Roosevelt next week and urge the deficiency appropriation to avert the pending spring layoffs.

Senior High Pupil Wins First Prize In Poster Contest

Robert Galster, pupil in the 11-A class at Mansfield Senior high school, last night was warded the $6 first prize in the United Commercial Travelers safety poster contest.

The winning poster showed the specter of death hovering over a wrecked automobile and bears the warning: "Accidents take 36,000 lives a year. Drive carefully."

Second prize of $4 went to Donna Alexander, pupil in the Shiloh schools, and the $2 third prize to Carl Thodosoff, Mansfield Senior high school pupil.

Eight prizes of $1 each were awarded. Howard Taylor, Senior high pupil, winning two of them. Others went to Theresa Varga, Newman school; John Schwarz, Bowman school; Stella Petrovic, John Simpson junior high school; Betty Jean Hill, Newman school; Frederick Fisher, West Fifth street school, and Barbara May Wagenhals, Springfield township schools.

Prizes were awarded last night by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch at the Southern hotel where the posters are on display this week. Judge Kalbfleisch spoke on the topic, "Safety Is Important."

Others who spoke briefly at the awarding ceremonies included Mayor William J. Locke and Patrolman Frend Boals.

IRONTON — (U.P.) — William R. Smith, 28, was held to the grand jury today after pleading not guilty to a first degree murder charge in the death of Miss Dessie Mae Hubbard, 23, McDermott, Scioto county.

"Dorothy kept chewing at me until I knocked her down," Smith was quoted by police.

JURY MEETS TO PROBE 15 CASES

Session Expected to Be Ended Today; Loudonville Officers Give Testimony.

ASHLAND — In session one day, the Ashland county grand jury which convened in common pleas court Thursday had examined less than ten witnesses, but was expected to finish its investigation of the 15 cases on the docket by late this afternoon.

Witnesses who had been called by 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon included C. W. Myers of Lorain, Fred L. Schnittke of Mt. Vernon, Night Marshall R. G. Schnittke of Loudonville, Maxwell Hoover of Loudonville, State Patrolman Bruno Szwczyk and Clarence Zenner believed to be of Akron.

Zenner, who has been held in the county jail here for 37 days as a material witness was called in to testify into the alleged attempt to break into the safe of the Loudonville Milling Co. more than six weeks ago. For this crime, Harry Popovitch and John Sopko have been held in the county jail under bond of $100 each. The jury is now considering their case.

The jurors will also investigate the charges of forgery which have been preferred against James Redick and Dwight Stofer believed to be of Akron and Clyde Stofer of Loudonville. All have been held in the county jail in lieu of bond pending the grand jury investigation.

The jury which is in session includes Sayde Greenberger of Ashland, the only woman; Freeman Myers, Ashland, R. D. 1; Ray Kiefer, Loudonville; G. W. Long, Ashland R. D. 4; R. E. Fishpaw, Nankin R. FIVE LAID OFF

Temporary City Employes in Water Division Lose Jobs.

Five temporary employes in the water department were laid off and a sixth was transferred to the sewage treatment plant to fill a vacancy created earlier this week, Mayor William J. Locke announced this morning.

The mayor said that all of the workers were class B laborers and had been hired for the past several weeks to assist to making repairs in the distribution system.

The worker transferred to the sewage disposal plant is Russell Fairhurst. He will fill the vacancy created Wednesday when LaVerne Gutekunst was advanced to plant operator.

Those relieved of their duties were Frank Carmel, Dale Au, T. H. Shoup, Clyde Neff and William Mertler.

SHOT BY ROBBER

Dayton Cafe Proprietor Killed as He Surprises Burglar.

DAYTON —(AP)— Henry Harshman, 74, was shot to death in his cafe early today, apparently by a burglar whom he surprised in the establishment.

Detective Sgt. C. C. Croft expressed belief that the intruder opened fire immediately upon being discovered. Harshman, shot in the heart, was found lying on the floor clasping an unfired revolver. Croft found the slayer either entered or left the building by a window which had been broken.

Police were called to the scene by a taxi driver who said he had been summoned to the cafe at 3:10 a. m. by Harshman who wanted to be driven to his home in another part of the city. When the taxi driver could not find Harshman in front of the building he said he noticed the broken window and peering within the place saw Harshman's body lying on the floor.

WPA NEEDS GOODWILL IF IT'S TO STAY, WORKERS TOLD BY MAYOR

Mayor William J. Locke, speaking last night at a meeting of the Richland County Workers Alliance, warned the organization against "seeking group interests" and asserted that "if WPA is to continue it must have the good will of the community."

The mayor had been invited to speak at the meeting of the Alliance, a union of county WPA workers.

His reference to "group interests," he said, was prompted by the Alliance's opposition to the expenditure of $300 to publish a real estate inventory report which had cost WPA $28,000 to compile.

"I am not interested in seeing WPA money spent if it is to be wasted," the mayor said.

He commended the organization for its cooperation in the handling of WPA projects and said he was "glad to hear there are no Communists in your ranks."

John Sparks, president of the organization, denied recently that the Alliance was dominated by Communists and asserted there were no Communists in the Richland county Alliance membership.

The group last night criticized "all those who discriminate against the Alliance and WPA workers" and urged WPA workers to support a bill to give more WPA jobs which will soon come before congress.

Other speakers at the meeting at Alliance headquarters, 15½ North Park street, were Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and Atty. Charles Freehafer. One of the lecturers for the Junior Bar conference of the American Bar association, Freehafer talked on "Child Welfare."

AWARDED $2,680

Woman Wins Judgment in Suit for Personal Services.

The county petit jury late yesterday awarded Mrs. Beryl Henderson a $2,680 judgment in her suit for $4,125 against the estate of the late Levet Crider.

Bringing action against Jane C. Stroup, executrix of the estate, Mrs. Henderson sought the judgment for personal services performed for the late Mr. Crider.

The jury today began the hearing of a $5,000 damage suit covering injuries received by Eugene Baxter, Detroit, Mich., in an automobile accident Oct. 6, 1937 in Lexington.

The suit named Isabel Armstrong of Lexington who allegedly made a felt turn in front of Baxter, causing his car to crash into the one she was driving. Prosecutor G. W. Marriott is counsel for Baxter and Attys. Weldon and Huston for the defendant.

DAVEY TO MAKE PLANS KNOWN IN NEXT WEEK

Says He 'Seriously Considers' Running for Governor; Waits Until Wednesday.

(By International News Service)

KENT, O.—Former Gov. Martin L. Davey announced from his Kent home today that he had been "seriously considering" running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination but that he would not make a definite decision until next Wednesday.

"Any rumors or published statements to the effect that I will not be a candidate are the results of idle guesswork or wishful thinking," Davey said. "The fact is that I have been seriously considering it but have not reached a final decision."

The statement did not come as a surprise to political leaders and observers. They pointed out that Davey had postponed making his intentions clear until he was certain of the plans of U. S. Sen. Vic Donahey.

(Donahey announced in Washington several days ago that he would decide his political future this week and would announce publicly Sunday whether he would be a candidate for re-election or retire from public service.)

In his brief statement, Davey declined to explain the delay. It was believed, however, that he was waiting to decide whether to seek renomination for another term as governor or run for U. S. senator if Donahey didn't run again.

"Out of consideration for the many thousands of inquiries," Davey's statement read, "I feel that it is only fair to make the following brief statement. It is my present intention to make a definite announcement as to the question of being a candidate for governor by the middle of next week. The reasons for withholding announcement until that time are sound and sufficient from my point of view."

Karsmizki, who took over his new duties today, was recommended for the position by the Liberty Park Civic association. Arrangements were being made today to provide his bond so he may be commissioned a special policeman, Frank Burton, park superintendent, said.

M'GREGOR GETS CERTIFICATION

New Congressman Resigns Post in Legislature, Leaves for Capital Sunday.

gressman Chester Bolton whose death several months ago created a vacancy in the district.

Mrs. Bolton plans to go to Washington Saturday and McGregor Sunday to be sworn in as new members of congress early next week.

McGregor resigned late yesterday as majority leader of the Ohio house of representatives from Coshocton county. He said he will file nominating petitions with the Richland county election board for the full term in congress from the 17th district before he leaves for the national capital. The unexpired term of the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook is for the balance of this year.

The official count in the 17th district announced today in Columbus gave McGregor a margin of 4,512 votes over his Democratic opponent, Byron B. Ashbrook of Johnstown, nephew of the late Congressman Ashbrook. Final figures in the district showed McGregor polled 27,434 votes and Ashbrook 22,922.

There was a change of only one vote in the Richland county tabulations, McGregor gaining one. The vote in the county was 5,649 for McGregor and 4,923 for Ashbrook, giving McGregor a majority of 726 votes.

The election board credited McGregor with one disputed ballot that had been marked as a straight Democratic ticket and then for McGregor. The board decided a Democratic voter had meant to cast his ballot for McGregor.

Five Republican leaders of the Ohio house of representatives are seeking the post of speaker protem vacated by McGregor, dispatches from Columbus said.

It was believed that William H. Deddens of Cincinnati has the edge if the post is filled this year.

Unless a special session of the legislature is called it was believed probable that the vacancy will continue to exist until the new legislature meets early next year.

end than to agree to a compromise by which after some years, when England is in control of strategic control points governing raw materials and the world's business, she "decides to get enemies and neutrals by the throats again."

Von Ribbentrop, according to reliable sources, also pointed out that Germany established a protectorate over Boehmia and Moravia (heart of the former Czecho-Slovak republic) and seized Poland only because England and France tried to use these areas as operating bases against Germany.

If the present grip on Bohemia and Moravia is tight and if Poland at present is ruled with a firm hand, Von Ribbentrop was represented as ready to say to Welles in reply to any questions along these lines, this is due solely to the fact that the British and French even now have not ceased trying to incite these little nations to rebellion.

The foreign office lays claim to being in possession of evidence that the British are busy in Lithuania, stirring up trouble there, and especially encouraging the Poles there to create a disturbance in the so-called "governor's area" of Poland administered by Germany.

Plans India-wide 'Disobedience' Drive.

PATNA, India — (U.P.) — The executive committee of the Indian nationalist congress decided today to launch an India-wide disobedience campaign in protest against Britain's refusal to grant immediate political freedom to India.

The congress executive body also recommended that in plenary session the congress adopt a resolution disapproving the British government's declaration that India is a belligerent country, and disassociating India from the European war "carried on for British imperialist purposes."

After deciding on reviving the civil disobedience campaign which won the congress much of its power and a considerable degree of autonomy for India, the executive committee agreed at the suggestion of the congress leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi, to wait several days before determining just when and how to resort to do it.

The delay meant a door had been kept open for the British government to accept the congress demands.

TRUSTEES TOLD TO ORGANIZE

State President Says Township Officials Must Make Effort to Defend Rights.

Township officials must defend their rights in government through effective organization, J. R. Thomas, of Hayesville, state president of the trustees and clerks association, said yesterday at the annual Richland county road meeting at the First Methodist church in Mansfield.

Thomas asserted that there is a tendency for the metropolitan centers in the state to shove the rural districts into the background in the matter of favorable state legislation and finances.

"The city interests are growing more powerful and you must protect your interests through organization to survive," he told the county trustees and clerks.

Walter Garrison, representing the state auditing department, outlined the new state law providing for the purchase of road equipment from gasoline tax funds and instructed trustees in making up their budgets for the year.

Other speakers at the annual meeting were Ralph Lutz, Lexington, county representative; County Engineer Howard Sword; John Selby, president of the county association of trustees and clerks, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe; C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the county commissioners ,and Prosecutor G. W. Marriott.

More than 140 county and township officials attended the meeting at which road plans for the year were discussed and the county engineer submitted his program for the year.

Donat is in England, but the lovely Miss Leigh, her burnished red-brown hair and green eyes shining in a spotlight, accepted her "oscar from Darryl F. Zanuck, who presented the awards, with a shy little speech, something about "my great good fortune to have this wonderful part to play." Sidney Howard, the playwright, is dead, victim of a recent tragic accident on his Connecticut farm.

Selznick was given the Irving G. Thalberg memorial award, the most highly prized of executive honors, for "the most consistent high quality of production achievement by an individual producer."

Other academy awards were:

Best black and white cinematography — Gregg Toland, for "Wuthering Heights," produced by Samuel Goldwyn.

Special effects—Fred Sercen and E. H. Hansen for "The Rains Came," 20th Century-Fox.

Sound recording — Bernard B. Brown, for "When Tomorrow Comes," Universal.

Original music score — Herbert Stothart, for "The Wizard of Oz," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Musical scoring—Richard Hageman, Frank Harling, John Leopold and Leo Shuken for "Stage Coach."

One reel short subjects—"Busy Little Bears," by Paramount.

Two reel short subjects—"Sons of Liberty," by Warner Brothers.

Cartoon—"The Ugly Duckling," Walt Disney.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1940.

At least one scientist has denounced spinach as an undesirable article of diet—and wait till Popeye hears about this!

That South Sea island where there are no taxes is probably lacking in other Utopian attractions or it would be greatly overpopulated.

Some complain that Franklin D. gives too much time to fishing—while others contend that fishing is probably the best thing he does.

There are some folks with whom an interesting conversation can be carried through an entire evening—without resort to bridge or radio.

Ruthlessness of Retaliation

THE body of principles and practices known as "international law" is soon discarded when a big war starts. This was seen 25 years ago and is happening again. The chief factor in this destructive force is the so-called "law of retaliation," which isn't really a law at all, but a lawless practice which the United States has been fighting for more than a century.

Statesmen who invoke it hold that when one belligerent violates international law to inflict injury on an enemy, then the enemy has a right to violate the law to protect himself or return the injury. Then there develops a series of alternate acts of lawlessness, each one held to be justified by the wrong immediately preceding it.

Thus when Britain stops food shipments to Germany, in retaliation the Germans sow mines in the North sea and English Channel, and then in reprisal Britain claps an embargo on German exports, and so on. There's no end to it when the basic principle is once discarded.

Innocent neutrals suffer along with the belligerents. They may have their trade ruined, their shipping sunk and their people deprived of the necessaries of life, although they themselves have done nothing wrong.

Youthful Offenders Against Law

THEFT of automobiles, which has apparently become rather common in Mansfield in recent weeks, has the appearance of a "kid trick" rather than the work of experienced criminals, who are more likely to realize the dangers and difficulties involved in getting away with a stolen car.

For children who have not been schooled to honesty and good behavior, the idea of a joyride in a car appropriated for that purpose probably has an appeal which their undisciplined will power is unable to resist.

In the occurrence of Tuesday evening, for instance, it is quite improbable that the youthful culprit and his companions realized that they were endangering their own lives, and the lives of other persons, by "borrowing" a car and driving it around town in disregard of traffic regulations and by speeding up to elude police officers.

If juvenile criminality is to be substantially reduced there must be greater efforts in cities such as this to encourage better parental discipline in the individual cases which come to the attention of authorities, rather than to allow these youngsters to continue so-called minor offenses until they finally become involved in some serious crime, as has frequently been the case heretofore.

This era of extreme freedom of children from home discipline came about largely through the notion that boys and girls would be benefited, and strengthened in character, by being permitted to make their own decisions in matters of behavior. In some instances, at least, this confidence has been misplaced—to the sorrow of parents whose children fall into the hands of the police as a result of some violation of law.

Planets Stage Celestial Show

FOR THOSE whose interest extends beyond the present disturbed conditions on our own planet, this week is presenting an exceptional celestial exhibition in the western sky—visible just after sundown.

It is the position of the five planets—Mars, Saturn, Venus, Jupiter and Mercury—that provides this exceptional cosmic show, which will not play a return engagement for 75 years.

The preceding paragraph lists the planets in the order of location, with Mars at the top. Astronomers explain that, unlike stars, planets do not have fixed positions as seen from the earth, but change about according to variations of their orbits and the earth's movement around the sun.

Even a casual look at this chain of planets, as they now temporarily adorn the western sky, and a thought of the expanse of universe through which they travel, tends to minimize the seeming importance of mundane affairs and to inspire renewed confidence in a Divine Power that controls not only this world and universe but also those that are more distant than the stars and planets about which we know.

Where Else But Here?

A Poem Read During the Broadcast of Musical Americana Thursday evening, Feb. 29, 1940

You read the news tonight.
The papers in your room, beneath your eyes,
A world passed in review before your mind
You did not find a stern mandate of hate
To tell you what to think and how to feel:
Why not, when nations everywhere are tyrannized
By facts withheld, by ignorance and fear and lies?

Because full eight score years ago Americans declared
That Liberty should speak in a Free Press!
What guarantee could better safeguard freedom
Than our knowledge of the Truth?
Today, each page of each newspaper that we read
Continues to declare our independence.
We still are free because in all the world
Our press remains the only one that's free!

The truth alone dictates the news we read
And we dictate our will with printer's ink
No laws are passed till men give pause and ask
"What do the people think?"
Through our newspapers
We are the jury that sits in every court
We sit on every governmental body in the land
There's not a voice in all America
To match the mighty power of our free press
Our "No" can topple governments and make oppression cease!
Our "Yes" assembles all a nation's might
Upon the battlements of peace!

Let all Americans herewith make this vow:
To stand behind these men who bring the news to us.
Remember that a tyrant first would try
To muzzle the free press which we have now!
Only so long as we know WHAT is happening and WHY,
Shall we know WHEN to defend our liberty and HOW!

Our freedom of the press is news
In a world that's scourged by falsehood and by fear!
If there's to be sanctuary for the Truth today,
Where else but here?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Sometimes in the list of characters on theatrical play-bills you run across the name of George Spelvin.

Actually, there is no such person. He is as fictitious as any of the characters in the play itself—perhaps more fictitious, because he has no human counterpart.

He is a cover-up, a pseudonym for actors who play two parts in the same show. For instance, if I were an actor in Uncle Tom's Cabin and played both Topsy and Little Eva you'd see something like this: Little Eva—played by George Tucker; Topsy — played by George Spelvin.

The virtue of this make-believe is two-fold: it helps preserve an illusion, and it keeps the audience from finding out how cheap the producers are, the supposition being that producers who weren't cheap would hire an extra actor to play the other part.

* * *

WE'VE been running into George Spelvin for years, not only in playbills but also in various columns. For he is usually nominated by columnists to play the role of the "Average American" or any other role they want.

But in all the years we've encountered him, it never occurred to us that he should form the subject of a New York letter until Norman Nelson, of Fort Worth, Texas, wrote in and inquired after this Mr. Spelvin. So, Mr. Nelson, this one is on you.

Perhaps we shouldn't stop Mr. Spelvin without inquiring into his antecedents. Winchel Smith, the playwright, usually gets credit for creating this mythical bloke.

Smith never liked to have the characters of his plays listed without Spelvin's name, and on those occasions when no actor played two parts—you'd find him there anyway. Once Smith caused this line to be inserted in the playbill: "A Policeman — played by George Spelvin." There was no policeman in the play.

* * *

FIFTY-SECOND street is so crowded with noisy, rowdy bars where loud orchestras play, that it has long been known as the Street of Swing.

But there is one place, at least, in the very heart of 52nd street where the only swing to be found is in the swing of a giant negro's arm as he swings open the barbecue pit to serve ribs, barbecued pork ribs with hot, red barbecue sauce.

It's a great place for afternoon eating and after midnight eating and in-between eating. You get barbecued oysters and slaw and those big, lean, beautiful ribs with that sauce, and sweet potatoes and apple pie and coffee, for a buck.

You can even have a little music with your ribs if you shove a nickel into a coin machine which plays records. But that's the only music there is, just the music of the ribs barbecuing and the machine playing. And the records—well, I suppose some of them are swing, because now and then you run into one of Benny Goodman's records. Which, after all, isn't very surprising when you consider that this barbecue banjola is owned by Benny Goodman's brother.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, March 1, 1920.

March "came in like a lamb."

Mrs. Eden E. Follin, 85, died.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Keffer assumed duties as superintendent and matron of Richland county home.

F. C. Myers, traveling salesman for Brown Merchandise company, was injured by fall at Lima.

A. A. Flook was ill at his home on South Main street.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, March 1, 1935.

Miss Mary Zeller became superintendent of the Eleanor Thomas hospital.

M. K. Wells was appointed Richland county relief director to succeed Earl Nist.

Members of the Jared Mansfield chapter of the D. A. R., observed their 16th birthday anniversary with a dinner meeting.

Lowell Bourns, Jack Thorne and H. H. Schettler were appointed as directors of the University club board of trustees.

SPEAKING OF INVIDIOUS COMPARISONS

Listen, World!

The Worst Thing About Old Age.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I DREAD growing old! No—'tisn't the gray hairs, wrinkles and extra chins. For those things I don't give a hoot. Never having been a bathing beauty at any time, I can bear up even if I'm not scenic. Nor do I share the common delusion that romance and adventure stop when fallen arches begin. There's as much adventure after fifty as before, if you've got the gumption to go after it and the sense to recognize it.

But there's one prospect about Declining Years that certainly does give me the jitters. And that's the notion that old folks should be respected, agreed with and coddled generally, whether or not they merit such attention.

Yes, I know the idea listens lovely in a book on etiquette. But I bet it has ruined more middle-aged men and women, who might otherwise have remained Regular Eggs, than all the old age disasters put together.

* * *

THERE'S nothing more demoralizing to a human being of any age than admiration and consideration—unless he has earned them. And nothing as dangerous to one's character as a lack of criticism and competition. Even the so-called "old age diseases" are far more often due to pampering—and the deadly dullness arising therefrom—than to any frailty of the flesh. A soft, safe life becomes a sick and snivelly one pronto, whether you're 8 or 80.

And therein, I suspect, lies the secret of healthy, happy youth. No one dreams of always agreeing with Youth, or giving it the First Pick and Best Seat. To the contrary, Youth is constantly crossed and criticized, razzed and challenged. As a consequence any Youth that's worth its salt is kept on its toes . . . eager and alert . . . in fighting trim.

Suppose youth were coddled as we coddle age. You've seen it happen. Spoiled young squirts who've always had what they wanted when they wanted it. Did the mere fact of their few years keep them agile and gay? It did not. They were as peevish and pouty as doddering grandpas.

Remove the roughage from any human's life and he or she immediately becomes a dose of hives.

Which is why I am dreading old age. Up to date no one has shown the slightest desire to strew my path with rose leaves. And I've yet to make a statement that wasn't met with every degree of snooty derision. So, naturally, life is still an alluring mystery. I never know what lies around the corner, and I advance eagerly to every occasion, a smile in one hand, a baseball bat in the other. All of which is swell—for both my digestion and disposition.

But inevitably the moment will come when some one will note my increasing gray hairs and decide to Respect My Years. Then God help us all! For I know perfectly well what will happen. I will immediately become completely cantankerous and utterly bored—a plague to myself and every one who knows me, as are most of the old ladies of my acquaintance!

* * *

SO I herewith give notice. (And it might serve as a creed for all persons over 50 who wish to stay in circulation). If you love me, treat me human! Make me earn your admiration and consideration like a Regular Guy.

Give me no respect—unless I win it in clean and open conflict. Make nothing easy for me—nothing free or soft or de luxe. Above all, make nothing safe! Help me to keep my life dangerous. Laugh at me. Pan me. Doubt me and challenge me. Never let me lean on my past record. Force me to pay my passage as I go along.

And the instant I start to act upstage and talk about Respect For One's Elders—for the luvva Mike, PASS THE CHLOROFORM!

Timely Editorial

Dr. Carver, a Great Scientist.

Other persons have made millions out of the discoveries of Dr. George Washington Carver, renowned for his findings in the field of chemistry. Born a slave, he got his education under the greatest difficulties. He has used his genius especially to help the southerners make the widest possible use of their crops.

Now Dr. Carver is turning $33,000—the savings of a life time—over to a foundation to carry on his work in creative chemistry when he is through.

Americans are proud of Dr. Carver and his distinctive achievements as a true scientist. He has pointed to one of the greatest lessons for Americans. That is to find new uses for the old products. That is the way to better living. That can build a prosperity and independence that will put all governmental farm subsidy plans into the discard.—Toledo Blade.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Galloping Through Life.

Some take the days in breathless haste.
The round that they pursue
Too rushed to let them even think
Of what they wish to do.

They push aside what most in life
They would enjoy, and say,
"I am too busy now, but that
I will take up some day."

They live as if life were a space
That endless waits on will.
As if their hopes at any time
At all they can fulfill.

The foolish folk who let themselves
Put by their cherished dreams
For future that may never come.
How strange such living seems!

Truth About Leprosy In U. S.

—By DR. CLENDENING

I WAS walking along a street in New Orleans with my wife a few weeks ago, and there approached us a young man who wore dark goggles, evidently had a good deal of his nose destroyed and two white patches on his cheek. My wife shuddered at this gruesome sight, and as he passed us he brushed her arm. She asked me what was the matter with him and I replied, "Only leprosy," at which I had a young domestic explosion on my hands.

I reassured her that leprosy, contrary to popular belief, is hardly contagious at all, and when we got to Mexico City I persuaded her to visit the leper sanitarium there.

I visited the only continental United States leprosarium (there is one in Honolulu) near New Orleans this month. This sanitarium is located at Carville. All the states are authorized to send their lepers to this institution, a model of its kind, which takes care of about 400 lepers constantly, the year 'round. Sometimes they get away and we occasionally find them wandering around the roads of California, but they are usually glad to return to the leprosarium.

Of Great Antiquity.

Leprosy is a disease of great antiquity, although most of the lepers described in the Bible and in medieval times probably were suffering from some other condition. Very few parts of the world are entirely free from the disease. Leprosy is common in China, Japan, the Philippines, Australia, India, Arabia, Iceland, the Scandinavian coutries and Russia.

There are several forms of leprosy. In the commonest form the germ invades the nose and infiltrates from the nose into the skin of the cheek. In the course of time this invasion assumes a nodular form so that the skin on the cheek and forehead is thick and lumpy. The patients have a leonine expression. In the other form the germ invades the nervous system and it is characterized by flat white spots on the skin, usually on the hands and legs. These spots become numb and contractures of the tendons occur so that there is a claw hand or foot.

Chaulmoogra Oil Used.

Treatment of leprosy today is very satisfactory with the use of a preparation known as chaulmoogra oil. In a report of the United States Public Health Service I find that 23 per cent of the patients, after treatment, can be paroled, as no longer even a faint menace to the public. Ninety-one per cent of the remaining under treatment are either improved or become stationary.

The belief that leprosy is very contagious still obtains, yet there are a good many lepers wandering around the country. One that I know of visits skin clinics regularly and exhibits himself to students for 25 cents a look.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—That secret Dies committee meeting last Monday did not consider new investigational plans as announced by Chairman Dies. What actually took place was a fight to fire J. B. ("Doc") Matthews, the committee's so-called "Communism expert."

The effort came within one vote of succeeding. Matthews was saved only by the slim margin of 4 to 3.

The dismissal motion was made by Representative John J. Dempsey, silver-haired New Mexican, who has long been opposed to Matthews' employment. Supporting Dempsey were his two liberal colleagues, Representatives Joseph Casey of Massachusetts and Jerry Voorhis of California.

Voting with Dies, who hired Matthews and has been his chief backer, was the fourth Democrat, Joe Starnes of Alabama, and the two Republican members Noah Mason of Illinois and J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey.

Dempsey's move provoked a heated clash. In demanding Matthews' ouster, Dempsey charged the investigator with bringing the committee into disrepute by his "radical background" and his "passion for grinding personal axes."

As an instance of this he cited Matthews' report on alleged Red influence in consumer organizations. This report, issued last December from Dies' home in Orange, Tex., without the knowledge or consent of the full committee, vigorously assailed the Consumers Union.

"I hold no brief for this organization," Dempsey asserted, "but it happens that it is a competitor of Consumers Research, in which Matthews has a large financial interest. But he didn't mention Consumers Research in his report while he attacked Consumers Union and other consumer groups."

Dies militantly rushed to the defense.

"I know Matthews is a former radical," he shouted, "but that doesn't alter the fact that he has been very valuable to us in exposing the inner workings of the Communist movement."

"If that is so," broke in Casey, "then let's keep him in that role. I have no objection to keeping him on our payroll as long as he remains in the job we hired him for—an informer. But I strongly object to his acting as the principal investigator of the committee, asking questions of witnesses and issuing reports he has no authority to put out."

Undaunted by the rejection of his dismissal motion, Dempsey offered another to slash Matthews' salary, upped from $3600 to $6000 by Dies, to $4800. But again Matthews was saved by one vote—4 to 3.

* * *

Roosevelt and Diplomats.

THE president has discarded all the formal trappings for receiving a new diplomat. He tried the informal manner once or twice, liked it, and now has determined not to go back to formality for anyone.

This means three principal changes in procedure. He receives in his office instead of in the White House proper; he wears his business suit, instead of pin striped trousers and cutaway coat; and he omits the reading of the official messages.

These messages are still prepared and released to the press, but the new diplomat is saved the trouble of reading, and the president is saved the trouble of listening. Incidentally, the last message presented was the longest on record—that of Panama's new Ambassador George Boyd.

The president now uses the time to better advantage. With no one in the room except himself and the diplomat, unless an interpreter is required, he carries on an informal and friendly chat on matters that interest them both. This chat is never reported to the outside world, and it includes confidential questions which would singe the ink off the formal statements.

* * *

Glass Eyes.

COULD you spare a glass eye, buddy? This odd query may become common, unless Hitler relaxes present barriers and permits relief to the glass eye wearers of the United States.

There are more glass eye wearers in the country than you can wink at, and you might wink at most of them without being aware of it. Skillful Czech artisans can match a good eye with a duplicate in colored glass so neatly that you can't tell the difference—until the glass begins to wear out.

It's at this point that the wearer needs the manufacturer most desperately. But today the maker can't ship his product to the wearer because of the war blockade.

The matter actually became so serious that three departments—commerce, labor, and state—put their heads together to see if a few score Czech eye-artisans could not be admitted to the U. S., despite overflowing immigration quotas. They agreed to issue the visas, and glass eyes everywhere brightened at the prospect.

But der Fuehrer upset the plan. He declined to permit such valued workmen to leave the Greater Reich. Result is that, with the supply of glass eyes rapidly diminishing, the field is open for somebody to develop a new skill and a new industry in the United States.

Driving a Pig

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

DRIVING by a distant neighbor's barn, I saw his trailer with a stock rack, hitched to his car. It stood by a door close to the straw shed. The rear endgate was folded back upon the ground. Inside, I heard one hog squeal shrilly. I stopped and went to see if I could help.

As I shadowed the door, the farmer approached, all out of breath. His heavy galoshes were generously smeared with the fresh, odorous stench of hogs and cattle. His new denim overalls and blouse were badly soiled. I saw, too, that his patience was worn thin.

"That ol' divil gets away from me every time!" he panted. "Even if I get her cornered, she's like greased! I caught her left hind leg but 'twas so smeary I couldn't hold on!"

"Your new suit," I suggested, "is getting soiled."

"That's what gets me down," he agreed, reaching down for a handful of clean straw to wipe his hands. "My wife told me to keep my old ones on until I had the critter loaded. I figured on trickin' her in with corn, and fooled around more'n an hour before I started chasin' her. She's crazy as a bedbug and the quicker I get her out of here the better for both of us. I thought I'd have to call my wife out to help—now you've come, I won't need to. You're the first good thing that's happened to me today."

"Since we're both here," I suggested, "why not take these two gates off their hinges and make a wider approach. Then we could back the trailer up closer and put the endgate down inside, drive the sow up here and close in on her suddenly."

"Okay," said he, "there wasn't enough of me to do it alone."

I stood near the widened opening while he rounded up his quarry. She would not drive, but with a paddle he forced her toward the gates. Both of us closed in and tried to drive her up the grade into the trailer. She would not go.

In sheer desperation, my neighbor grabbed the stubby, bristly, curly tail that stood above the animal's hind quarters like an ornament, and pulled with all his might. At once the animal began to struggle up the elcated incline, with the farmer bringing up the rear. We slammed the endgate shut.

"The best way to drive a pig," said my friend with a rueful, humorous sigh, "is to play the pig's own game — pull back for all you're worth."

FOREMEN HEAR WOMAN MONDAY

Head of New York Firm Speaks at Club's Annual Ladies' Night Program.

The Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club will set a precedent Monday night and bring a woman to Mansfield to speak at the organization's annual ladies' night program, at Mansfield-Leland hotel.

She is Miss Vivien Kellems, president of the Kellems Products, Inc., New York, the first woman to address the all-men's club in several years. Her topic will be "King Tut Laughed At It."

Miss Kellems, widely known as a traveler and lecturer, is the only woman manufacturer in the electrical industry and one of the three women members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The firm she heads makes electrical cable grips used in skyscrapers, huge power dams, and battleships.

Planned especially for the wives and women guests of foremen's club members, the program Monday night will include a dance which will follow the dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. in the hotel ballroom. Dance music will be played by Ira Metcalf's orchestra.

The program will be in charge of club members from the Ohio Brass company and the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

SMITHY'S ANVIL STOLEN.

SAN JOSE, Cal. —(U P)— Police are looking for a strong-arm burglar. He stole a blacksmith's anvil belonging to Clem Columbet. There were no indications that it had been carried off otherwise than by hand.

FUNERAL SET

BUCYRUS—Last rites will be conducted in St. James' Episcopal church Saturday at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Mary Sheerin, 69, widow of the late Rev. James Sheerin, who died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Benfield Pressey at Hanover, N. H., Wednesday. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Mrs. Sheerin's death was sudden and was caused by a heart attack which took the life of her husband on Christmas eve in 1933.

Survivors include her daughter with whom she had been living for the last year, a son, Rev. C. W. Sheerin of New York City, and another daughter, Mrs. Theodore Lay of Flushing, L. I. The deceased was the sister of the late Charles Picking.

CITY'S ADULT 'BOYS' TOWN'

Age of Officials in New Jersey Municipality Averages Thirty Years.

GARFIELD, N. J.—(AP)—Youth is at the helm in this city of 30,000 persons, and 29-year-old Mayor John Gabriel says it's a healthy trend that will spread to the rest of the nation.

In recent years this town, once known to police as the dumping-ground of New York hijackers and gangsters, has been given a new deal, most of it by Gabriel. He was elected councilman at 23 and mayor at 26.

Three dozen of its officials, including the attorney, engineer, auditor, comptroller, relief director, average just 30 years. Some, who have just slipped out of the 20's, were sworn into office at the age when most fellows are just out of college.

A juvenile delinquency commission was created in 1938 with "the purpose to correct not punish." The result was that not a single boy under 16 was tried before either a local or county court and not a single boy was taken to a state reform school.

The mayor is proud of one other thing: "Garfield used to be known as a hangout for gangsters. Now it's known for its football team."

CANADA'S CROP OUTLOOK GOOD IN WHEAT BELT

Drought-Devastated Section Stages Comeback With War Price Increase.

(By United Press)

REGINA, Sask. — Farmers of Saskatchewan, Canada's premier agricultural province, look upon 1940 to return them the best year's income in more than a decade.

Preparing to go on a land scourged by drouth these farmers —hard hit by economic depression for years—in 1939 harvested the first good crop in more than 10 years. Now, with the war raising prices of agricultural produce, both grain and animal, they vision 1940 as being even more lucrative.

There has been little to date to mar the agricultural outlook in Saskatchewan. Though sub-soil moisture is reported below normal, that is not an unusual condition in Saskatchewan and with good spring moisture, until July, farmers hope to harvest a good crop. Grain prices are not yet high, but they have climbed gradually in the past few months. Farmers believe that due to the war, prices will have risen more by the time the next harvest is due, about eight months from this date.

Farmers Have Own Seed.

One bright spot in the farm picture is the fact that for the first time in years, the provincial government will not have to purchase seed for farmers to begin their crop year. The past year yielded plenty, both seed and feed, to virtually all districts in the province. It is a tremendous contrast to the spring of 1939, when the provincial government had to advance $1,500,000 to rural municipalities to aid farmers in the purchase of seed and feed.

In northeastern Saskatchewan, around the Whitefox district which has gained wide fame in the past six years for the high quality production of alfalfa seed, alfalfa farmers expect an exceptionally banner year in 1940. Last year was their first setback since alfalfa farming was begun, only 2,000,000 pounds being harvested instead of the anticipated 6,000,000 pounds.

Fewer Insects Indicated.

Insect pests will be at a minimum in 1940, according to government entomologists The recurrent grasshopper plague will be at the low point of its cycle and the grasshopper infestation is reported to be the lightest for years.

But animal breeders, excluding those of horses, stand to profit most by the wartime rise in prices. Particularly so the hog breeders. Saskatchewan, with a hog population of 500,000, looks forward to a sharp rise in both prices and population in 1940. With Canada supplying between 4,400,000 and 5,600,000 pounds of bacon to Britain weekly under a war-time contract with the Canada Bacon Board, hog raisers are assured a steady price for their product.

Cattle men foresee a good year. While there has been no spectacular rise in cattle prices, there has been a steady upward trend. A more favorable trade treaty with the United States increased Canadian exports of cattle by 100,000 in the first 11 months of 1939, statistics show. In 1939, Saskatchewan had about 1,200,000 cattle, representing a small increase of 42,000 over 1938.

DIES AT AGE 92

BUCYRUS — Funeral arrangements are pending for Jay J. Hopple, 92, retired farmer, who died at his home on South Spring street early Thursday.

Survivors include four children, E. J. Hopple of Cleveland, Mrs. R. McCalman of Danville, Ill., and Otis Hopple of Roseburg, Ore., and a half sister, Mrs. Ida Dininger of Bucyrus, and a half brother, Reuben Hopple of South Bend, Ind.

Mr. Hopple had been in failing health since he suffered a fractured hip in a fall three years ago.

Bachelors Run for Cover as Girls Run Town

With the city in the hands of a Leap Year council of blondes and brunets, the 6,000 bachelors of Aurora, Ill., were on the spot when pretty Mayor Audrey Kesel announced they were liable to be jailed and held if they turned down any girl who proposed to them. Taking a catnap while waiting a call to duty is attractive Police Chief Elaine Carpenter, above. The most ardent woman-hater, one imagines, would rather face matrimony than that sub-machine gun Chief Carpenter holds in her lap.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER TAKES FIRST VACATION IN 45 YEARS

(By International News Service)

BOSTON—The keeper of the light has taken a holiday.

Captain George E. Eaton, who spent 45 years in the Lighthouse service without taking a vacation, and during that time watched the flickering light of the old kerosene lamp give way to the steady, powerful electric beam, followed by the automatic radio beacon, has retired.

"I was never one to go away and loaf on a hotel piazza and think I was having a good time," said Captain Eaton, retiring on pension before reaching the retirement age of 64 because he has accumulated leave. He was born in Wakefield April 14, 1876. Since 1919 he has been superintendent of the first lighthouse district.

His duties were taken over by Captain Thomas A. Shanley, of the United States Coast Guard, who administers the first and second districts, comprised of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, as a result of the merging of the lighthouse department with the Coast Guard last August.

Captain Eaton, with his wife, plans a Florida vacation. Other than that his plans were vague. "I'll just cruise around," he said.

Oldest lighthouses in the service were under his direction. These include Boston Lighthouse on Great Brewster Island in the lower harbor, the oldest lighthouse in the New World. Boston Lighthouse was built in 1716.

The Captain received his nautical training aboard the square-rigged ship Enterprise, which he joined in 1895 to be one of the first class graduated from the Massachusetts Nautical Training school. His first government service was with the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Captain and Mrs. Eaton make their home in Melrose. Their three married daughters also live there.

'PEACE OR WAR?' WILL BE FORUM TOPIC TUESDAY

Dr. Sullivan, Second Speaker in Lecture Series, Student of Political Science.

"Peace or War" will be the topic of Dr. William T. Sullivan of Toledo when he presents the second lecture in the "Open Forum" series at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom Tuesday evening.

Author of several works in the field of political science, Dr. Sullivan is professor of European history at DeSales college in Toledo. He is one of the five speakers being presented in the "Open Forum" series sponsored by Catholic societies of Mansfield.

Long a student of international political science, Dr. Sullivan has had extensive experience in the teaching field and is the author of "League of Nations Sanctions" and "Vatican Diplomacy.'

The forum speaker is a native of Boston, Mass., received his bachelor of arts degree from Holy Cross college in 1920, and master of arts degree from Columbia University in 1931. In 1935 Fordham university conferred the degree of doctor of philosophy upon Dr. Sullivan.

He began his teaching career in Boston in 1920 and later went to Tiffin and Fremont. He has been professor of European history at the diocesan college since 1936.

In his lecture on "Peace or War?", Dr. Sullivan discusses such questions as: must states always be preparing for war or striving to recover from the usual penalties attendant upon war—is there any means at hand to eliminate the constant warlike spirit of national fears, rivalries and armament races?

DEATH NOTE FROM SKY

SANDUSKY, O.—(AP)—Out of the sky came a sad message to two men who were fishing through the ice off Kelleys Island. From his plane, Robert Wilt dropped a note advising Luther and Arthur Gowitzka that their father, Rineholt, 65, of Erie county, had died at Toledo. Wilt then landed on the ice and flew the sons to the mainland.

CASTOR OIL

He Takes It Without Grimace, But Steak 'Tastes' Same.

WOODSFIELD —(AP)— Edward E. Kindall can take castor oil without a shudder; he eats three meals a day although he never gets hungry or thirsty. The secret is that Kindall has taken food through a tube inserted in his abdomen since late in 1926 when typhoid fever contracted his esophagus.

In that 14 years he has gone through high school, done light work, and has entered the race for Monroe county recorder. He is 24 years old. Odor of cooking food does not tempt him, Kindall says, although he gets weak if he does not "eat." When he feels the need, he inserts a small funnel in the abdominal tube and literally pours the food to his stomach.

He takes only such soft foods as cereals, cocoa, malted milk, eggnogs and broth. He cannot retain food taken through his mouth. Kindall says he "feels fit as a fiddle" and never is ill.

Vendol Beat Everything Said For It Says Local Citizen

Well known painting contractor says he hadn't been feeling right for a long time before taking celebrated medicine. Like a different person now.

MR. WILEY A. WILL

The fame and popularity of Vendol becomes more firmly established day after day as one well known person after another comes to Central Drug Store and makes a statement for publication to the Vendol Man, giving this celebrated Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine full credit for his new feeling of well-being.

Mr. Wiley A. Will of 87 McPherson Street, Mansfield, took Vendol upon the recommendation of people he read about in the papers and says that "it has even surpassed everything good said about it."

"I suffered all the time from constipation and I noticed when this trouble was worse that I'd have sour indigestion, and so much gas in my stomach that it made me miserable by causing palpitation, "heartburn," and a feeling that I couldn't take a full breath. At other times it caused sour stomach, acid risings, and feeling like there was a lump in my throat. Many nights my sleep was ruined by restlessness.

"Vendol seemed to be made exactly for me and gave the grandest relief from constipation I had known for a long time, and with this relief there followed relief from the sour stomach, gas, acid risings, and the other symptoms which had kept me miserable. Now I eat hearty meals of most anything I want.

"I feel fine now, and have the highest regard for Vendol, so am glad to pass the good word along to others who may be suffering like I was.'

If constipation is what is causing you to suffer from indigestion, sour stomach, gas, burning sensation, acid risings, lump in the throat, or is making your skin look dull, sallow, with little pimples, or makes you feel sore, stiff, dizzy, and headachy, start taking Vendol and see if it doesn't soon make you feel like a different person.

You are invited to talk freely with the Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Corner Main & 4th Streets without obligation, but give Vendol a chance to help you as it has so many all around here. Get Vendol today from most any druggist.

END HOT WATER FADING WITH NEW IVORY SNOW . . . COOL SUDS SAFE FOR SILKS, WOOLS!

WORRY . . . WORRY . . . WORRY! Does your heart skip a beat when you launder your pet sweater—or blouse—the very first time? The color may fade! The wool may shrink!

Wouldn't it be nice to actually feel confident when you wash silks and wools? You can . . . if you'll try the new Ivory Snow! This brand new kind of soap washes silks and wools a way experts say is safe—right in cool water. In just 3 seconds—Ivory Snow bursts into wonderful cool suds. So different . . . so much safer than old-fashioned slow-dissolving soaps—the kind that tempt you to get your water too hot! Water that's too hot may fade colors . . . tend to shrink woolens.

So don't you take that risk! Get new Ivory Snow. Ivory Snow is the newest form of pure Ivory Soap, trusted for baby's bath. So you can trust Ivory Snow for the daintiest fabrics. Ask for Ivory Snow today!

A LUXURY? not when you've got Ivory Snow! Colors stay fresh months on end, washed this oh-so safe way! And only about a penny's worth washes this nightie-and-jacket set.

MADE FOR EACH OTHER!—these flowered pajamas and quilted robe! Made for pretty silks like these—this magical new Ivory Snow! Ends fading that comes from hot water. Ivory Snow's pure, cool suds protect dainty colors for months!

Social Clubs Entertain With Cards, Sewing as Mid-Week Sees Slackening of Busy Pace for Leaders In Community.

YESTERDAY was unusually light in social circles with those who did attend meetings of any kind going to a varied group of events. Mrs. Florien Landis, Mifflin township, was hostess to members of the Buena Vista club. There were 16 members and children present, and two guests, Mrs. Sam Harlan, jr., and her daughter.

Mrs. Gerald Dudley, who will entertain the club March 28, conducted the session. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Weimer, Mrs. S. B. Boals and Mrs. Ray Hout. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. The table was decorated with patriotic appointments.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harold Armstrong and Mrs. Ralph Cotton yesterday when members of the Larkin Gaytime club were the guests of Mrs. Mark Southward, Howard street. Luncheon was served, and St. Patrick appointments were used. Mrs. Melvin Bauer, 31 West Prospect street, will entertain the club March 28

Fancy work was done by members of the Sew-a-Stitch club yesterday when they met with Miss Rosa Schwaner, 25 Kohler avenue. Games were played and the prize winners were the Misses Helen and Lillian Rupanovic and Evelyn Eichineger. Miss June McClure was welcomed into membership.

Luncheon was served by the hostess. Plans were made to celebrate the birthday of Miss Helen Rupanovic, 6 Kohler avenue, March 13 when the club meets again.

Elect Officers During Meeting of Sub-Debs

Officers of the Sub-Deb club were elected last night when the members met with Miss Dorothy Bishop, 191 Westwood avenue Miss Eleanore Austin will serve as president. She will be assisted by Miss Jean Griffith, vice-president; Miss Agnes Miner, secretary, and Miss Martha Kopcial, treasurer.

Miss Kopcial will entertain the group March 7 at her home at 436 Glessner avenue. Miss Pat Dropsey won the contract bridge prize. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Torrence Has Party In Honor Of Miss Weaver

Mrs. Carl F. Torrence, 105 Vennum avenue, entertained eight at a pre-nuptial dinner last night honoring Miss Florence Weaver who will become the bride of George Spayde, Bellville, at a quiet ceremony Sunday at the First Lutheran church. Dr. Grover E. Swoyer will read the ceremony.

Following the dinner the group drew for prizes and Miss Weaver was the winner. She was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts later in the evening at the hostess presented her with a wedding gift.

Patriotic appointments were used at the table which was centered with miniature figures holding tiny American flags, and white tapers in crystal holders. Small red and blue hatchets were used as place cards.

After their marriage the couple will take a six week motor trip, and then return to Bellville. Miss Weaver will be entertained at a number of post-nuptial parties upon her return.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. Ray Heichel, 26 McPherson street, entertained yesterday with a surprise party in honor of her son, Eugene, who was celebrating his 12th birthday. Games were played and prizes won by Donovan Cline, Billy Long, and Brainard Jasinskey. Refreshments were served from a long table decorated with St. Patrick appointments and green tapers. There were 15 children present.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

News of the day seems to be divided between Mansfield collegians and vacationers . . . with the one group being every bit as busy as the other. . . . Initiation services were conducted in 12 sororities on the campus at Randolph-Macon Women's college in Lynchburg, Va., recently, and so Elsie McConnell is now a member of the Chi Omega sorority—she's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McConnell, you know, and a freshman at the southern school this year.

Marianne

* * *

Three Mansfield students in the law school at Western Reserve university are breathing sighs of relief this week—undoubtedly—as they've all passed their mid-year examinations successfully. . . . Richard Armold, Donald C. Gardner and Donald E. Smith are the smart fellows.

* * *

GOOD NEWS: A cablegram which Mrs. John George received this week brought her welcome tidings. . . . Her daughter, Sue, wired that she had landed safely in Capetown, S. A. . . . No doubt you recall that she sailed from New York City for South Africa on Feb. 3—she's gone there for six months as the traveling companion of a Baltimore, Md., woman.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George McFadden really had cause to celebrate yesterday—it was their fourth wedding anniversary—although they've been married 16 years! . . . That's right, they were married on Leap Year day, Feb. 29—and the funny part is that they didn't realize it until the following year, when they wanted to celebrate their first wedding anniversary! So you can imagine how much kidding Mrs. McFadden takes on that score. . . . Anyway they went to see "Gone With the Wind" yesterday and this week-end they're going to visit with relatives and friends in Lorain.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Droz have returned from a three-week vacation, which took them visiting in nine of the southern states. . . . They saw most all the points of interest, but the best part of their sojourn was found in the visits they had with their son, David, who's an instructor of aeronautics at the Alabama State college in Tuscaloosa. . . . Oh yes, and they saw the orchid farms at New Orleans, La., as well as many of the famous southern battlegrounds. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Guy Shawk and their son, Malcolm, are at home again now too—following a vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla.—where Mrs. Shawk had an exhibit of antiques.

* * *

DOWN WITTENBERG WAY: These days are really important ones for Mary Helen Bair as she's making her dramatic debut on the Springfield college campus. . . . Tonight marks the final presentation of a three-day run of the play, "Day Come White"—the third production in the Little Theater's dramatic season. . . . Mary Helen, who's a freshman at Wittenberg, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bair.

* * *

Mrs. Mae Goss is back in town now too. . . . Perhaps you recall that she drove down to Atlanta, Ga., about two months ago with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lucas (who had come up from that southern city for a visit). . . . Mrs. Goss also vacationed in Lakeland, Fla., before leaving the south.

* * *

Speaking of Lorain (as were were a few paragraphs back) I'm sure most of you remember Karl S. Lindeman, who went there some time ago as superintendent of the Ohio State Department of Forestry. . . . His engagement has just been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boogs, parents of his bride-elect, Frances Boogs—but no definite date has been set for the wedding as yet. . . . Karl (whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lindeman) is a graduate of Michigan State university—where he was a Lamda Chi Alpha. . . . Incidentally, he's leaving Lorain within the next few days to take over Ohio state forestry duties in Mercer county.

* * *

FROM FOLKS HERE AND THERE: Mrs. W. Gerald Moore and Mrs. Franklin K. Ackerman are stopping at the Savoy-Plaza hotel in New York City this week. . . . Among the recent Mansfielders at Magnetic Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heuss and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Becker

Fitted Coat, Spring Favorite

Here you see one of spring's new fitted coats (a favorite silhouette). Phillip Mangone designed it of navy blue wool and collared it in white pique. It is accented with a jeweled flower spray and a wing-tipped blue straw hat.

Bride of Friday Feted at Affair Given by Friends

Another in the series of post-nuptial parties honoring Mrs. William Csordas was given last evening by the Misses Naomi Remy and Alice Sabo. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Lester Remy, 106 Prospect street, who assisted the other hostesses.

Hearts were the diversion at two tables, with prizes going to Miss Sabo and the honoree. Green and white appointments and a floral centerpiece decorated the long table, when luncheon was served.

The guests presented Mrs. Csordas with a shower of miscellaneous gifts, and the hostesses gave her a lace tablecloth. The honoree was Miss Wilma Cole before her marriage just a week ago today.

* * *

EXPERIENCE SOCIAL.

A dollar experience social was an event of yesterday afternoon for members of Circle Two of the Park Avenue Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Todd, 20 Bartley avenue. Luncheon was served to the 14 members and two guests at the noon hour. Mrs. Harold Neese led the devotions, and Mrs. Charles Swisher was in charge of the business. The place of the March 28 meeting will be announced later.

* * *

CLASS MEETS.

Members of the L. A. Palmer class met with Mrs. Roger Delaney, South Diamond street, yesterday with Mrs. W. F. Norton serving as associate hostess. Mrs. Josie Spring and Mrs. Helen Mains won the prizes. The hostesses served refreshments. The next meeting, the date of which was not announced, will be held with Mrs. Fred Williams, Lexington avenue, with Miss Grace Cherry assisting.

Helen Reynolds Becomes Bride of Bellville Man

Miss Helen Reynolds, 20 Fair street, daughter of Don Reynolds, Detroit, Mich., became the bride of Howard Allen, son of Mrs. Louise Allen, Bellville, Wednesday at noon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry King, pastor of the First Methodist church at Covington, Ky.

The bride is a graduate of the Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed as bookkeeper at the Lantz Mills. Mr. Allen is a graduate of Bellville high school. The couple will reside at Bellville for the present.

TWO SORORITIES IN SESSION; MAKE PLANS

WHILE Mansfield matrons turn their attention to club work and welfare activities, the young women of the community find their recreation and outside interests in sororities. Two of the Mansfield groups were in session last night. Miss Marjorie Drake, South Boulevards, entertained members of Sigma Kappa Gamma with Miss Ila Mae Smith assisting.

Officers were elected at this time. They are Miss Dorothy Kelly, president; Miss Marguriette Boyer, vice-president; Miss Drake, secretary, and Miss Marilyn Wright, corresponding secretary. Reports were given by the committee heads, and Miss Kelly gave the paper.

The next meeting will be held at the Susie Janis home when the new officers are installed at a dinner. Arrangements are in charge of Miss Boyer, Miss Louise Scott, Miss Smith, Miss Dorothy Leech and Miss Naomi Velzy, retiring president.

Following the session the hostesses served a buffet luncheon. The next regular session will be a business meeting March 28 at the home of Miss Scott, Carpenter road, with Miss Doris Kiraly assisting.

* * *

At the regular meeting of Beta Kappa Tau in the club rooms the rushees were introduced, and plans were made for rushing parties during the month of March. These girls were the Misses Louise Enderle, Holly Baker, Dorothy Harbaugh, Ann Schmidt, Marjorie Swanger, Virginia Shaffer and Rose Huck.

Sunday the sorority will entertain with a tea at the Susie Janis home. The next regular meeting at the club rooms will be held March 14 with a covered-dish dinner preceding the session.

Engaged? She Doesn't Know

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A letter in the morning's mail from a girl: She doesn't actually know whether she is engaged or not!

The young man in question is one of those shy violets who occasionally talks of marriage in the abstract, especially after he has had a good Sunday night supper at her house, and is led to talking of the joys of home, versus lunch counters, but he never comes to the point.

The world is full of such procrastinators. For some unknown reason New England used to breed them a generation or two ago, and the late Mary Wilkins' stories were frequently written around dilatory lovers who went "steady" for twenty or thirty years, yet never married.

Your modern girl, like my correspondent, declines to put up with such tactics. "No man, however attractive he may be, wears out our livingroom chairs and eats our Sunday night suppers and keeps away other men who know what they want."

She wonders if she should fall back on Leap Year to settle things, and if so, what would be the best way to go about it. She very genuinely likes this young man, is even in love with him after her own fashion which isn't headlong. But she thinks two years of backing and filling is enough.

A dash of humor has frequently solved such a situation. Lead off with some nonsense about Leap Year and wind up with an experimental proposal, which, if the shy violet is really in earnest, he will welcome. A staid matron confided to me the other day that tears brought to heel the highly satisfactory husband to whom she has been married for a quarter of a century.

Another girl I know, who's a successful movie star, landed her first (she's had two since then) by sending him a white waistcoat and tie and a jolly note saying she preferred an evening wedding. It was Leap Year and she proposed by letter in direct masculine fashion.

But all these signs may fail if the shadow-boxer is not in earnest or if he's one of those hard-bitten males who prefers to do his own proposing.

He may be brought to the point by the girl's announcing she's on the brink of packing her trunk and visiting some relative (real or imaginary) in the far West, the great open spaces where men are men. Has he been lacking in this quality, the dilatory lover asks himself? — and decides to show her how manly he is too.

But all said and done, it's a maddening situation for a girl not to know whether she is actually engaged or not. Month after month the slow coach calls and one by one other eligibles drop off. Still nothing positive is said, and the girl begins to have a feeling that inasmuch as so much time has been wasted six months or a year more won't matter. But youth has a dreadful way of evaporating. In these days of frankness, being "the captain of your soul, the master of your fate," rather than drifting like seaweed with the tide, is the way for a girl to be.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Pausing only to note the exact location of the wriggling movement I had seen in the underbrush, and the direction in which it was headed, I flew out of my room, down the stairs and out the door to the gateway, where a guard was always stationed.

"Don't look around!" I told him, trying to make my errand appear a natural one, and pointing exactly the opposite direction to the one where I had seen the wriggling movement. "There's somebody or something crawling through the brush in the woodland the other side of the fence. Whoever it is must be nearly to the fence by this time. I'm pointing purposely in exactly the opposite direction to where the movement is Please observe my hand and figure out just where the intruder is, and get the men together."

"I'll do that the minute you get back in the house," the man said firmly. "We have strict orders from your father that we never are to permit you to run into any danger."

I knew better than to protest. And I hurried back to my room without an instant's delay.

By the time I reached my window salving my conscience with the reflection that Queen Olga could not possibly be ready for me yet, the guards were unostentatiously converging toward the spot in the woodland where I had seen the intruder. But that the hidden wriggler also had seen them, I knew from the absolute cessation of movement in the underbrush.

My heart was in my throat. Was this creeping man—I was sure it was a man—armed? Would bloodshed, perhaps death result from my warning. For several seconds I knew what the expression "holding one's breath" meant, and then there was a subdued shout, a swoop upon the part of a guard, and a few seconds later he emerged, holding in his iron grip a shabbily-dressed, squirming, slight masculine figure who was past youth.

Philip Veritzen himself answered my knock, and at my entrance Queen Olga lifted her head from the paper she was folding, and smiled at me.

"You timed your entrance well" she said. "I have just finished."

"How swiftly you have worked!" I said sincerely "Father will be so pleased."

"Does he wish to see either of us?" Philip Veritzen asked.

"Not now," I answered, and knew without looking at him that he was frowning. "Something unexpected has come up which is engaging all his attention just now —" I felt that I was only anticipating the truth by a few minutes —"and he said he could see no one else today."

"Very well," Philip Verizten said stiffly. "Then I will take my leave."

"Let me say good-bye now," I said, taking the paper from Queen Olga and hurrying out of the room. And then I was dashing for my father's room, hoping that I would get there before the guards should bring up their captive.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

GET TO THE RIGHT SPOT

When your side has the balance of power, so that the opponents do not enter the auction to any serious extent, your own bidding has a twofold objective. It aims to get you into the correct suit or No Trump and also to the most profitable height. You can't do this except by giving a true picture of your hand, so that your partner may know the situation, or by reacting correctly to a true picture he paints with his bids. Raising with only three cards in a suit of his, which may be only four cards, is usually bad bridge if you have a five-card major of your own which may be rebid.

West led the club 6 because of his partner's bid. The 3 was played from dummy, 7 by East and K by South. Two spade rounds knocked out the A, then East laid down his club A and switched to a diamond, too late to do any harm. South then ran his game, plus an overtrick, giving up a trick at the end.

A diamond lead would have defeated the contract, giving the defenders three tricks in that suit, plus two black aces So would an immediate use of East's club A on the first trick, followed by a switch to the diamond K.

The correct contract for North and South was unbeatable, 4-Hearts. North on his second turn should have rebid his hearts, whereupon South would have bid 5-Hearts and North 4-Hearts. At this contract no tricks should have been lost except two to the black aces.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 2.

Despite the menace of trickery, duplicity and subtle pitfalls, this should be a day of very definite progres and great personal happiness. A determined effort to succeed by hard work, perseverance and sound principles will be crowned with prosperity, stabilized fortunes and the recognition of elders and superiors. But be wary, discreet and sagacious every step of the way, as treachery menaces. Much personal happiness also obtains.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which there may be very decisive steps in the direction of putting the affairs on firm foundations through industry, sound initiative and practical principles. This will give much stability to the fortunes, increase the possessions and gain the attention of superiors. But in all be alert to deception and fraud, and discreet in all particulars. Sign papers cautiously.

A child born on this day may be industrious, responsible, deep and shrewd. It may have high principle and sound character. Practical, capable and earnest, it should make a fine success of its life Social and affectional qualities should not be missing.

CHAPTER VIII

"There's certainly plenty of men in your life," laughed Mamie. "But only one who has ever really mattered. Looks like it don't do you much good though. He's already married."

* * *

Nina smiled but she looked rather startled as if the casual shot had told.

"There may be a divorce," Mamie murmured consolingly. "So don't give up hope. And here's an ocean trip coming soon now. Looks like it might be right away. Were you thinking of going somewhere after the children are married?"

"Well, it's an idea," Nina admitted. 'Maybe I will."

Bob frowned. When Mamie said, "Now I'll tell yours," he refused.

"I'm afraid I haven't enough faith in such things to make a good subject," he said.

"Don't be bashful!" urged Mamie. "I'll bet you're just afraid to have Star know about your past. The cards tell all, you know. As Joe says, Joe is my present husband, the cards and liquor never lie."

The silence which followed this remark was so significant that Star could bear no more. Rising she said, "I think it's time for us to go."

But Mamie waved her away.

"What's the idea? I'm having a swell time. You know, Nina, Star had me scared to come here tonight. She was afraid I'd do the wrong thing but I told her the first time I met you that you were a real lady and that still goes."

Star glanced at her in despair and quickly looked away.

"You know that daughter of mine is ashamed of me," Mamie confided. "She's always had big ideas. Well, Bob, here's hoping you can carry them out. I've tried to be a good mother to her. No one knows the sacrifices I've made but sometimes I wonder if there is such a thing as gratitude."

* * *

Star sat as if turned to stone. Her heart seemed to have stopped beating until Bob came to her rescue by suggesting that they go for a ride. In the car she sat beside him without speaking except to tell Mamie goodnight. As they drove from the apartment house where her mother lived, Bob said gruffly, "It was Nina's fault, Star. She did it deliberately."

"Mother isn't used to drinking," she explained sadly.

"It doesn't matter," he comforted. "I love you just the same."

But Star knew that nothing could ever be the same again. She could not marry him without Nina's approval, and after tonight she could no longer believe in Nina's affection. One of the reasons she had loved Bob was because of his mother and all that Nina had done for her.

When they reached the house they found that the writer had disappeared.

"Let's not talk about it any more tonight," Bob suggested. "Get a good night's sleep and things won't look so black to you. And remember, nothing that happened tonight has made any difference to me."

* * *

Star pressed his hand gratefully, closed the door of her room and began to undress. But before she had finished there was a tap at her door, and without waiting for permission Nina entered. She was wearing an elaborately embroidered Chinese robe which seemed to give her added authority.

"Why didn't you tell me you didn't want us to get married?" Star asked.

"Because Bob wouldn't have listened to me. I had to make him see it for himself," Nina admitted.

"He says it doesn't make any difference," Star told his mother with forlorn pride.

Nina looked alarmed.

"You needn't worry about it, Mrs. Lambert. I won't marry him without your consent; I couldn't after all you've done for me."

The older woman said unhappily. "I'm sorry, my dear! I know I am to blame for making you think such a marriage would be possible. But I have had such different plans for Bob. He's infatuated with you but I honestly don't think it's love. It wouldn't last. You're to old for him. I don't mean in years," she explained as Star looked at her in surprise. "The circumstances of your life have made you old for your age. What you need is an older man."

For Nina to attempt to define Star's needs at this moment would have been amusing if it had not been so disheartening.

"I'll go away in the morning," she promised. "I'll never see him again."

"Oh, you mustn't do that," Nina said, but she was obviously relieved. It will be better for me to take him to Europe for six weeks, but I'll find you another position before we leave."

Nina didn't really care in the least what happened to her, Star thought desolately. Nina's theories hadn't been worth a thing when applied to the acid test of her own flesh and blood. The shock of her employer's desertion made the girl realize that Nina's opinion concerned her more than Bob's. Star had been overwhelmed and flattered by his attentions; had loved him because of the resemblance to his mother whom she adored. But her idol was shattered. She could not marry him against Nina's will, and no doubt Nina was right. It had happened too quickly to be real. A few weeks of travel, doing interesting things and meeting the kind of people Nina would be sure to attract would erase all memory of Star. His loyalty would not permit him to give her up on account of her mother but he could never feel the same about her again. Sooner or later he would resent the difference in background. He would be grateful in the end that he had been spared a marriage so obviously unsuitable.

Nina had just been talking when she said Star could associate with any one. Her parentage would always be against her. It wasn't true then that you could rise above your environment no matter what it had been. It could reach out any time to clutch you, drag you down. But hers shouldn't, Star said grimly. She would break with Mamie. Have nothing to do with her. Why should the fact that she was Star's mother mean anything to her when it meant so little to Mamie?

Star sat by the window staring into the moon-flooded garden throughout the night making her plans, but never had she felt so desolate. Never had she known such bitterness as now swept over her. Only one thing remained to her. That was the pride she carried like a banner in her heart. She would not give Nina a chance to find her a position. Never again would she be a source of friction between her former employer and her son. When they came downstairs the next morning, Star would not be there and she would leave no single clue for Bob to follow in case he tried.

Mrs. Epperson rose at seven but it was only six when Star slipped through the house with her suitcase in one hand. She left no notes. Her only fear was that some one would hear her before she reached the door. Once outside, she cast a hurried glance over her shoulder and fled to the street car line. Fortunately she knew the city so well that she had no difficulty in reaching the section she had in mind. It was composed of small shops and rooming houses for block upon block. At one of these she would find a room in which she could live until she found work.

It had seemed quite simple thinking about it the night before. In reality it proved to be much more difficult. In the first place she had only a few dollars left after buying Mamie's dress and she soon found that any place she went—no matter how cheap—demanded at least a week's payment in advance. Utterly inexperienced in such matters, Star had not counted on this. The rooms in comparison with the one she had occupied at Nina's seemed even worse than her old one at Mamie's. Many of them were not clean.

Star spent the entire morning and part of the afternoon searching before she found a room she could afford. It was on the basement floor of a large old building with pipes running through from the furnace, but for the moment it offered the protection she needed.

She fancied the landlady was looking at her with suspicion but eventually the money was accepted and Star was alone. Without unpacking or taking time enough to remove her dress, she flung her tired young body across the bed and fell asleep.

It was dark when she wakened. At first the unfamiliar surroundings frightened her, then she remembered where she was and that confidence in herself which had never entirely deserted her came to her rescue. It was better this way. At least she was sailing under no false colors.

* * *

Star put on her hat and went to a drug store where she ordered a sandwich and glass of milk. Men stared at her. Even in her simple dress and plain cheap hat, her beauty was compelling. But she was unconscious of it. She was so absorbed in her problem that she had no time to think about how she might affect others. The thought of Bob she put firmly out of her mind, just as earlier in the summer she had surrendered all hope of seeing Leslie Reed again. They belonged to a past she was trying to forgt. Stepping stones to an ascent she was determined to make.

On the way home she bought a paper, but there were few help wanted ads. It might be better to register at an employment agency. It did not enter her mind that she would be unable to find anything to do. Nevertheless this proved to be the case. Every single lead she followed was a disappointment. The agency assured her they could place her in time but her small fund was rapidly disappearing.

It did not seem possible that a girl with her ability and the experience she had had with Nina could not find a job. Every night she told herself that tomorrow she would certainly find something but the answer was always the same. Perhaps, later. They neither knew nor cared that in cases like hers one couldn't wait. Something had to happen now.
